ATROCIOUS CRUELTY.

Disgusting Case of Cruelty to Animals.

It would be difficult to imagine a more disgusting case of cruelty to animals than one which came before the magistrates at the New-castle-under-Lyne Police Court on Wednesday, when a journeyman butcher named James Heath was charged with cruelty and ill-treating a sheep by partly skinning it alive. It seems that on the 25th ult. a police officer, when passing a slaughter house where Heath was employed, had his attention attracted to the place by the sound of stifled groans of some animal. On looking inside a dreadful spectacle met his eye. The defendant was operating upon a sheep which had been "ineffectually stuck." He had removed the skin from one of the forelegs, the shoulder, and the neck, and the foot joint was cut through and broken off. The wretched animal was seen to raise itself and turn its head towards its tormentor. This mute appeal for mercy failed to touch his heart, and for seven or eight minutes the sheep struggled while the defendant still went on, when the police-officer, probably thinking that its agonies had been sufficiently prolonged, stopped him. The magistrate said the case was a very shocking one, and that such cruelty must be put down by the "strong arm of the law." They therefore fined Heath 40 shillings and costs, or in default sentenced him to one month's imprisonment. This seems to be all the punishment that the "strong arm of the law" can inflict for an act of almost incredible brutality. If Heath were "partially flayed alive" by the cat-'o-nine-tails, wielded by the "strong arm" of a prison warder, his case would doubtless excite more sympathy than that of the sheep he tortured, but his sufferings would be slight compared with those of his blameless victim.—Pall Mall Gazette.

CAPTAIN ROBERTS, a Government Engineer with a corps of assistants, is engaged in surveying the Monongahela river, between Morgantown and Fairmont, preparatory to its being locked and dammed. It is thought that three dams will be required to secure slack-water navigation between the two points.

AT a recent sale of unclaimed goods in Oil City, two merchants bought a couple of boxes, and one being heavier than the other, the owner of the lighter box gave the owner of the heavier one half his purchase price to trade. The "swop" was made, and when the boxes were opened the heaviest one contained medicine for rheumatism, and the lighter one was filled with maple sugar. One man bid a dollar for a box, and got a dozen hats, just in style, and worth fully forty times what they cost him, while the next man paid two dollars and a half for a bundle containing a few hundred bills for Wallack Sisters' show. A merchant paid a dollar for a pair of pants, which were ten sizes too large, destitute of buttons and nearly worn out. Another, from an outlay of ten dollars, considers he is one hundred dollars the better for it.

ANDREW JOHNSON.

Death of the Ex-President and Statesman.

Meeting of the Citizens of Nashville to Express their Sympathy for the Afflicted Family—Profound Sorrow Throughout the Country—Executive Order by the President—The Departments at Washington Ordered to be Draped in Mourning—The Last Hours of the Deceased—Death Caused by Paralysis and Heart Disease—The Funeral to Take Place To-morrow.

KNOXVILLE, July 31.—Senator Johnson died at half-past two o'clock this morning. He desired that his winding sheet be the flag of his country.

NASHVILLE, July 31.—A public meeting of citizens of this city, held this evening to express condolence and sympathy on the death of ex-President Johnson, passed the following resolutions:

First. That we heard with sorrow and of the sad bereavement of the people of Tennessee in the loss of a guide who has for so many years pointed out the right way to political safety, and whose service at this time appeared to us so important in the Republic.

Second. That we deeply sympathize with his aged and afflicted wife in her bereavement, with his daughter and son and their families in the loss they are called to mourn.

Third. That in view of the exalted character, great labors and sublime lessons taught to this generation of his countrymen, that a committee from various counties in Middle Tennessee be appointed to select some place and day for appropriately observing the obsequies of our departed countryman, and that the committee be authorized to select some person who shall prepare an address upon the instruction which Andrew Johnsons' life has given his countrymen, and that the following persons be appointed as such committee upon the obsequies of Andrew Johnson.

The committee is composed of over one hundred of the most prominent citizens of Middle Tennessee. Every arrangement is made for the funeral, which takes place at Greenville, Tenn., on Tuesday, but this may be changed and the remains brought to this city for interment.

Specials to the Nashville papers from Greenville, at 11 o'clock to-night, say ex-President Johnson died of paralysis and heart disease, at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Brown, in Carter county, some four miles east of here, this morning at half-past two o'clock. He had been complaining somewhat of ill health during the past month, but felt no serious apprehensions. Last Wednesday he took the morning train to visit his daughter, with whom Mrs. Johnson had been sojourning for the past two weeks. He rode in a hack from Carter's depot to her residence, some six miles distant, and seemed in good spirits on his arrival, and ate a hearty dinner, and after a few minutes of general conversation retired up stairs, and was talking alone with his grand-daughter, Miss Lillie Stover. While thus engaged his tongue refused utterance, and to her great consternation he fell from his seat on the floor. Help was instantly summoned, and almost as soon as raised he expressed indistinctly that his right side was paralized. After being taken to bed, when the family spoke of sending for a physician, he forbade it, saying that he would soon recover. In this way the summoning of medical aid was deferred for twenty-four hours, when Dr. Jobe was called from Elizabethtown, some two miles distant. He instantly began heroic treatment, aided by Dr. Cameron, and deemed at one time on the next day to be succeeding. The patient conversed imperfectly in regard to domestic matters, and did not seem conscious of approaching dissolution, but his case was beyond the skill of a physician, and at seven o'clock last night he became unconscious. Mrs. Patterson and Andrew Johnson, Jr., arrived an hour later, with two physicians from Greenville, Drs. Brey and Taylor, but he did not recognize any of them, and after seven hours and a half of unconsciousness, peacefully breathed his last, surrounded by his wife, children, and all his grandchildren, except the son and daughter of ex-Senator Patterson.

The body will be brought here to-morrow morning, and will be buried with Masonic honors on Tuesday. Knoxville requested the honor of burying the illustrious dead, but the family are unwilling that his remains should be removed from home to any place, unless possibly to the capital of the State he has so long and faithfully served.

MEMPHIS, July 31.—The death of ex-President Johnson caused a profound sensation here, although not altogether unexpected after the dispatches received last night. His political friends were deeply affected and his enemies silenced by his sudden death.

LONG BRANCH, July 31. — President Grant was out driving this afternoon when informed of the death of ex-President Johnson. He was visibly affected.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Secretary Fish, now in New York, has been informed of the death of ex-President Johnson. It is customary on the decease of an ex-President to issue an executive order announcing the event, and directing the departments to be draped in mourning, and that during the funeral all public business be suspended. As a mark of respect to ex-President Johnson, the flag was at half-mast from the staff over the music stand of the Executive Mansion and from various public buildings in the city.

NEW YORK, July 31.—Soon after the announcement to-day of the death of Ex-President Johnson, flags were placed at half-mast over City Hall.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 31.—The announcement of the death of Andrew Johnson creates profound sorrow here.

MEMPHIS, August 1.—The Avalanche appears this morning with its column rules reversed, as a mark of respect to ex-President Johnson. That paper and the Appeal urge a mass meeting of citizens to express their regrets at the death of the deceased.

Executive Order.

WASHINGTON, August 1.—The following executive order has been issued:

WASHINGTON, July 31, 1875.—It becomes the painful duty of the President to announce to the people of the United States the death of Andrew Johnson, the last survivor of his honored predecessors, which occurred in Carter county, East Tennessee, at an early hour this morning. The solemnity of occasion which called him to the Presidency, with the varied nature and length of his public services, will cause him to be long remembered and occasion mourning for the death of a distinguished public servant. As a mark of respect for the memory of the deceased, it is ordered that the Executive Mansion and the several departments of the Government at Washington be draped in mourning until the close of the day designated for his funeral, and that all public business be suspended on that day. It is further ordered that the War and Navy Departments cause suitable honors to be paid on the occasion to the memory of the illustrious dead.

The Opinion of the London "Times."

LONDON, August 1.—The London Times, in its obituary article on Andrew Johnson, says his career illustrates both the strong and weak points of the American social and political systems. During his tenure of office he showed himself wanting in tact, refinement and knowledge of men, yet he had some qualities which are not so abundant in American politics as to be despised, when it was found he had dauntless courage, some political insight, and honesty never shadowed by suspicion.

THE POLITICAL CAMPAIGN.

Speeches by Senator Sherman and Ex-Governor Hayes at Marion, Ohio.

CINCINNATI, July 31.—A heavy rain fell at Marion, Lawrence county, last night, rendering the roads almost impassable. Yet a large attendance was present at the County Convention. In the evening Hon. John Sherman and ex-Governor Hayes addressed a large meeting. It is estimated that 9,000 people were present during the afternoon.

A Slimly-Attended Meeting of the Democracy at Mansfield, Ohio.

MANSFIELD, July 31.—Senator Thurman began his speech at ten minutes past two o'clock, reading from manuscript. He was introduced by the President, Col. B. Burns, in a ten minutes' speech, the noticeable thing about which was a very flattering allusion to ex-Governor Hayes and very little mention of Governor Allen. The meeting was small. About 800 persons surrounded the stand on the park. There were more from a distance than from the surrounding country. The weather was pleasant.

NEW YORK.

The Speculation in Western Union Telegraph Stock.

The First Installment of Beecher's Increased Salary Paid.

A Fund Being Raised for the Benefit of Bessie Turner.

NEW YORK, July 31, 1875.

Plymouth Church.

The Sun says Augustus Storrs, Treasurer of Plymouth church, has paid to Henry Ward Beecher $30,000 as the first installment of the $100,000 salary. Two secret meetings of the trustees have been held within the past three weeks, and there has been very much difference of opinion, bordering almost on dissension, as to how the remaining $70,000 shall be raised. The amount paid to Beecher was the surplus that pew rents netted at the sales in January, and covers the regular $20,000 salary.

The Times says it is authoritatively stated that the officials of Plymouth church intended to raise $80,000 additional to the salary voted Mr. Beecher. A fund is being raised by members of the church for the benefit of Miss Bessie Turner.

Western Union Telegraph.

The Tribune says that a member of the Executive Committee of the Western Union Company, well acquainted with Commodore Vanderbilt, was questioned as to the truth of the report that Vanderbilt was ready to sell out his stock. He said: "Mr. Vanderbilt is perfectly willing to part with any speculative stock, and such is Western Union; but he is stubborn. The stock he holds cost him eighty-six, and he never will sell at a loss, if it can be got up to the nineties. The Commodore will sell out to Jay Gould or any one who will give him his price; but the retirement of Mr. Vanderbilt from the board would not necessarily involve the retirement of his friends. Mr. Vanderbilt has a large number of followers in all enterprises which he enters into, and in our board Messrs. Schell, Work, Harker, Durkee and Thorne are all looked upon as his friends, all being identified with the management of the company. I don't believe they would sell their stock even if Vanderbilt should. There is $35,000,000 of Western Union Stock in all. The Commodore holds $5,000,000, and his friends $11,000,000 more, making $16,000,000 in all, enough to control the board at all the elections. If Gould desires to control this board, he will have to buy out the Vanderbilt clique as well as the Commodore. He, to-day, owns more of the Western Union stock than does Vanderbilt. It is known in our board that Jay Gould owns $7,500,000 of the Western Union stock against $5,000,000 held by the Commodore. Should he buy the interest of Vanderbilt, which the latter is willing to sell the moment the stock rises above eighty-six, Gould with his $7,500,000 will be very near to controlling the board. He will have to purchase it all himself, however, for he cannot rely upon his friends. He has no such followers as the Commodore, but he makes up in cash what he lacks in support."

Journalistic Excursion.

Representative journalists of this city and neighboring cities returned to-day from their excursion over the Erie railway. The company left this city on Wednesday morning, and were joined at Binghampton by Mr. John Phillips, the artist, of Chicago, and Mr. Pusviance, of the Lakeview Hotel, who next day acted as guides through the romantic Watkins' Glen, and pointed out the many beauties of the surrounding country and scenery on the lake. From Watkins' Glen the company proceeded to Elmira, and after a drive through that beautiful town, dined with Dr. Eldridge, in the tiful park which bears his name. Thence famous party continued to Niagara Falls and the trip was a whole affair was under the return. The whole of John N. Abbott, personal supervision of the Erie railway, General Passenger Agent, his associate, way, and Charles T. Arnoux, agents on the assisted by the several local line of the road.

The O'Connell Centennial.

Rev. Dr. McGlynn, pastor of St. Stephen's church, and who accompanied the Papal Embassy through the West and Canada, has been selected to deliver an oration on the occasion of the O'Connell centennial celebration in this city on August 6th. Invitations are to be sent to the President, Cabinet officers, Governor, State and county officers, and representative men of the several religious denominations.

Northern Pacific Railroad.

One of the Purchasing Committee of the Northern Pacific railroad informed a reporter last night that $30,000,000 of the first mortgage bondholders had agreed to the proposal of the Purchasing Committee to buy in the road and other property, at the sale of the same, to take place on Monday, under a decree of the United States Court.

The Cable Steamer Faraday.

The ship Eliza Everett, from Ireland, reports that on July 11th, in latitude 49 and longitude 43.15, she spoke the steamship Faraday, repairing the cable, and supplied her with provisions.

A Contest of Bands.

The leader of the Sixty-ninth Regiment band made a proposition to John Nolan, President of the Irish American Association, now here, for a contest of bands on the 17th of March next.

Libel Suit.

The time for the defendants to answer in the suit for libel brought by Miss Edna Dean Proctor against the Graphic has been extended to-day. In all likelihood the case will be compromised.

Denial.

Letters received from John T. Raymond, John Brougham and Wm. Wheat, deny that they are losers by the failure of Duncan, Sherman & Co.

Business Failure.

Schmall & Froweider, proprietors of an extensive lager beer brewery at Marion, N. J., have failed for about $63,000.

Tweed's Case.

Judge Barrett, to-day, refused to vacate the order of arrest on the $6,000,000 suit against Tweed, or to reduce his bail.

TESTING A BRIDGE.

The New Iron Bridge of the Erie Railway Over Genesee Falls.

PORTAGE, N. Y., July 31.—The new iron bridge of the Erie Railway over Genesee Falls at this place was to-day put to a thorough test preparatory to running through trains. President Jewett, with the General Superintendent, Engineer in Chief, General Passenger Agent James N. Abbott, and other officers arrived from New York this morning. At noon the first engine passed slowly upon the bridge, coming to a full stop in the centre of the main span, two hundred and thirty-five feet above the river, whistled its triumph, and proceeded across the bridge amid the cheers of the multitude that lined the high banks on either side. The second test was made by sending two Mogul engines across, and finally a train of six monster locomotives, whose cabs were covered with employes of the road, moved slowly forward with waving banners, and came to a full stop midway, making an examination till the test was pronounced complete.

President Jewett and the party, with a number of journalists, then passed over in a special train, together with a long train containing people from the surrounding country. The Portage bridge is eight hundred feet long, and takes the place of the famous wooden structure burned on May 6th. Through trains via Portage will now be run, materially shortening the route West.

Counterfeiters Arrested.

ST. PAUL, July 31.—Three counterfeiters were arrested here to-night by Assistant Chief B. Benton and two assistants of the United States Secret Service and United States Marshal McLaren. They gave their names as G. Wolsey, S. Peyser, and Mary Clark, the latter the wife of Wolsey. They have been here two months in business as cabinet makers. The officers captured $100,000 bills in all stages, mostly tens on the First National Bank of Paducah, press plates, electrotype, tools, etc. They came here from Clear Lake, Ia. Part of the gang was caught at Bosiowan a month ago.

Wife Murder in Kansas.

ATCHISON, Ks., July 31. — At White Cloud, on Thursday last, a man named Hurst killed his wife. They had been married only six months, and separated. On Thursday afternoon he went to the house where his wife was staying, called her out to the fence, put his arms about her, kissed her affectionately, then cut her throat with a large knife. Hurst was arrested, and it was with difficulty that the officers prevented lynching by the populace. He is now in jail at Troy, and pretends to be crazy.

The Liquor Controversy in Michigan.

DETROIT, Mich., July 31.—Judge Cockrane, in the Superior Court, to-day rendered an opinion in the liquor controversy. He held that the law of 1875 ought to be declared unconstitutional as a tax law, and not as a license law; that the Legislature could tax business as well as property; that the tax was a specific tax, but not a State specific tax, and that in his judgment it was not invalid because it is not ordered by localities. The case will go to the Supreme Court for a final decision at the October term.

Cruelty to a Lunatic.

PHILADELPHIA, July 31.—Mary Troxell, who has been kept in close confinement in an apartment reeking with filth and without ventilation in a house on Nelson street, was rescued to-day by the police, and removed to the Insane Hospital. Her sisters were arrested.

John O'Conner Power, a member of Parliament, presided, and in his speech declared that the Fenian prisoners were entitled to approbation rather than censure. The O'Connell Centennial.

LONDON, August 1.—The O'Connell Centenary demonstration is assuming unexpected political and diplomatic significance, embarrassing to Liberals, Home Rulers and the Government. The Lord Mayor of Dublin, supposed to be at the instigation of the wily Cardinal Cullen, a pure Churchman, caring nothing for the memory of O'Connell, has given the affair an Ultramontane character, offensive alike to Irish and English Liberals, the Protestant noblemen, Home Rulers and Fenians. The invitations were mainly extended to Catholic laymen and Bishops of England, France and Germany, which has drawn an indignant protest from one of the Irish peers, who claims that the Lord Mayor is unauthorized to use his office for a purely Catholic purpose. Cardinal Cullen is known to be an enemy of Home Rule, and he hopes thus to divide and destroy that party. The Home Rulers and Fenians will probably have an independent celebration in honor of the liberator. They cannot co-operate in an Ultramontane movement without endangering the Liberals' alliance and alienating Protestants who sympathize with Home Rule principles. Men like Butt, Sullivan and McCarthy Downing deplore the character given the affair, and fear they will in consequence lose the support of English Liberals and Irish Protestants in Dublin. The Lord Mayor is considered impolitic in resolving to propose the Pope's health before the Queen's. The English generally would co-operate in a proper demonstration in honor of the liberator, whom they admire as a friend of civil and religious liberty and parliamentary reform, but they will not stand Ultramontanism or insult William Queen. Sir Henry James, Sir William Harcourt and other advanced Liberals sorrowfully oppose the demonstration as admirers of O'Connell's career. They do not want an identification with an anti-Bismarck demonstration, because if the Lord Mayor expresses sympathy with imprisoned bishops it would give Bismarck a chance to open on the sympathizers with a movement hostile to German amity.

It is a significant fact that no German burgomaster answered the London Lord Mayor's invitations to the municipal banquet. This, it is believed, was by order of Bismarck. The invitations were accepted by the other Continental Mayors. The greatest attention was paid to the Prefect of the Seine, who now holds a reception in London, like the Lord Mayor himself, the band of the Garde Republic playing French national airs in the Alexandria Palace and being cheered enthusiastically by the English people.

Disraeli and Gladstone are rather reticent. It is believed Disraeli would cheerfully join in a proper tribute to the liberator, and Gladstone would accept an invitation and deliver a eulogy, but he having sided with Dollinger, he must consistently condemn the Ultramontane coloring given to the approaching demonstration. Besides, he believes Cardinals Cullen and Manning and other astute Catholics have contrived the demonstration purposely to make trouble with Germany while consolidating Catholic feeling.

Lord Derby believes the feeling on the continent favors holding Governments responsible for all occurring under their jurisdiction. If the German bishops introduced their internal politics in their Irish speeches it would cause hard feeling between the German and the English papers, and possibly result in a difficulty with Bismarck.

AUSTRIA.

The Insurrection in Herzegovinia.

VIENNA, August 1.—Count Andrassy, Austrian Premier, who was on leave of absence, has returned to Vienna on account of the Herzegovinian complications.

The Vienna Presse says it has reason to believe that Prince Milan's object in coming to this city is to sound the Government and ascertain whether Austria intends to preserve neutrality if the insurrection is protected, whether she will not recommend the Porte to redress the evils which have caused the present disturbances, and finally, whether, she is inclined to support the demands which the Servian Government contemplates respecting the development of the independence of Servia.

The Presse concludes that if the Austrian Government's reply is not altogether in the negative, it will be because Turkey is at fault for showing a lack of energy at the commencement of the Herzegovinian insurrection.

On June 12th the steamer Carisbrooke, for Singapore, owned by British subjects, was discovered landing passengers and a cargo on the island of Hainan. Being closed to foreigners, the ship was boarded and seized by the English customs officials in the Chinese service, and ordered to Whampoa for investigation. The Captain of the Carisbrooke promised to follow a Chinese gunboat to that port, but presently endeavored to escape to Hong Kong. After several warnings his vessel was fired upon and disabled, and finally captured and taken to Whampoa. There were several hundred passengers on the Carisbrooke, but none were injured, the shots having been directed at the rudder only. There was much excitement among the English, though a few deny that the seizure was warranted, as an attempt at smuggling was ovious. The judicial investigation at Canton having resulted unsatisfactory, it was referred to Peking for judgment.

The American Consul at Chin Kiog, while walking with his wife, was assaulted with offensive language by a party of Chinese soldiers. The native police interfered. A fight ensued between the Chinese, the Americans not being further molested. Two soldiers were arrested and taken to the British consulate for incarceration, which place was soon surrounded by a military mob, demanding the release of their companions. They were presently dispersed by one of their own officers. Magnified reports having reached Shanghai, Consuls Seward and Medhurst proceeded to Chin Kiog in American and British ships of-war for an investigation. The Chinese authorities promptly offered full reparation, and inflicted ample punishment on the offenders. Assaults are reported on attachees of the British and Russian legations by mobs in Peking.

Continued engagements are reported between the savages of Formosa and China. It is now admitted that China must extirpate them, as she cannot subjugate the aboriginese.

The American bark James Condie, from New York to Yokohama, was wrecked on March 30th on the island of Camboda. The passengers and crew were well treated by the natives. They were rescued on April 14th by the Italian ship-of-war Vitton Pisani. Captain Alexander, his wife and children, the officers and crew were taken to Batavia. Dr. Vanderpool, a passenger, was brought to Hong Kong on the Vitton Pisani.

ASSASSINATION IN ILLINOIS.

The Bollinger-Russell Fued—The Twenty-seventh Murder.

ST. LOUIS, August 1.—A dispatch from Carbonville, Ills., says another assassination, growing out of the Bollinger-Russell fued, in Williamson county, Ills., was committed on Saturday night, at Crainville. William Spence, a merchant of that place, had retired for the night in a room over his store. About 10 o'clock he was aroused by two unknown men, who said they desired to make some purchases. Spence got up, went down stairs, and while pulling on his shoes previous to opening the store door, he was fired on twice, both shots taking effect in the abdomen, killing him. The store was ransacked, but few articles taken, and Spence's empty pocket book was found a short distance from the store. The real cause of the crime is not known, but is attributed to the fact that Spence entertained some friends who attended Geo. W. Sisner's funeral on Friday last. This is the twenty-seventh murder committed since the fued between the Bollinger and Russell families began, a few years ago. The ransacking of Spence's store is considered as a blind to make people think the murder was committed for punder.

Railway Traffic Contract Annulled.

ST. LOUIS, August 1.—A special from Kansas City to the Globe-Democrat says Robert E. Carr, President of the Kansas Pacific Railroad, announces that the traffic contract recently made between that road and the St. Louis, Kansas City & Northern line, has been annulled. The announcement caused a good deal of comment in railroad circles. It is said Jay Gould undertook to manage the matter, but has been forced to back down.

Spinners' Strike at Fall River.

FALL RIVER, MASS., July 31.—At a meeting last night, it was voted to strike in three of the mills. The resolution was carried by a vote of five over two-thirds. This proceeding will without doubt cause a general "lock-out."

August Gold Sales.

The Assistant Treasurer at New York has been directed by the Treasurer to sell gold during the month of August as follows: One and one-half millions on the first and third Thursdays each, and one million dollars on the second and fourth Thursdays each; total, five millions.

Postal Affairs.

An order has been issued from the Post-office Department to include the Milwaukee, (Wis.) postoffice in the list of first-class letter carriers' offices and the pay of the carriers has been increased accordingly.

STATE BREVITIES.

A DISEASE of the throat is attacking the horses in Chester county.

ERIE COUNTY has 15,904 registered voters, an increase of 743 since 1874.

WAYNESBURG College has been furnished with a new bell. It weighs about 1,000 pounds, and cost four hundred dollars.

THE way of the McKean County School Directors is hard. In voting a $2,000 salary to their Superintendent, they are ordered by the State Superintendent to assemble and reconsider their former action and reduce it in proportion to other salaries.

A PARTY of hunters from Tionesta killed a bear last week and treed two cubs. After waiting thirty-six hours for the cubs to come down the tree, like Davy Crockett's coon, one of the hunters ascended the tree and capturing them, let them down with a rope.

IN A small and narrow valley above Lenhartsville, Berks county, there is a well-built house, containing two beds and a quantity of household furniture, which for several years has been unoccupied, but stands alone and deserted. It is stated that three years ago a family occupying this house was stricken with the small-pox, and all but two died, since which time no one has ventured within its walls.

THERE are about 570 Granges in the State, with a total membership of over 30,000, and weekly additions are being made to these figures. The county having the largest organization is Bradford, with 48 subordinate Granges and a membership of about 2,500. The counties of Allegheny, Cambria, Cameron, Carbon, Elk, Juniata, McKean, Philadelphia, Potter and Somerset are entirely without grange organizations in their limits.

JACOB PECK, a colored barber, of Meadville, but who has worked in Greenville off and on for the past six or seven years, was found dead in his shop at Harrisville, on Sabbath morning, 18th inst. Peck, who was in the habit of indulging too freely in strong drink occasionally, and in one of these moods he visited Greenville, having heard that they had license here, and exercised his right as an American citizen, by imbibing freely. He returned to Harrisville on Saturday, and it is thought, took some drug to make him sleep, and was found as above stated.

ON Monday afternoon, July 19th, Mr. C. Smith, residing a little more than a mile from Montrose, sent a small colored boy in his employ to open a barn standing back from the highway on a rise of ground in the middle of the field. The boy, on opening the barn, reported to Mr. Smith that there was a dead man on the hay; but Mr. Smith, thinking it must be some one asleep, told the boy to wake him up. The boy being terrified, Smith went himself into the barn, and found the dead body of Kane Patrick. A man who was seen in the neighborhood shortly before the body was found, has been arrested on suspicion of murdering him.

ON Saturday morning of last week, a horse belonging to Colonel David M. Myers, while hitched to a cart and employed in hauling on the farm of Mr. David Hoke, in Berwick township, Adams county, met with a singular and fatal accident. It appears he was being driven through one of the fields, when suddenly and without any premonition whatever, the ground commenced caving in under him, and notwithstanding the efforts of the driver to extricate and save him, the horse sank to a depth of about ten feet, the ground rapidly closing over and entombing him. Assistance was at once summoned, and the animal was speedily dug out, but he was dead, having been smothered by the earth.

FARMERS in this and Washington counties have been compelled to cut their before they were ripe. The grasshoppers have been taking them wholesale. Many fields have been completely ruined. The grain is all cut off, leaving the stalk standing like a stripped tobacco stem. They are becoming worse every day. As the meadows are mowed and the hay stacked, the hopper skips for pastures green and new. They have lit into gardens, devouring everything green, and we learn that they have commenced on the corn. The late rains, it was hoped, would destroy them to such an extent that they could do but little harm, but they hopped upon the fences and laughed at the storm, the winds and the rain. Since, they seem to go in on their work of destruction with resumed appetites.—Waynesburg Republican.

GOLD closed in New York Saturday at 112⅞.

THE severe and abundant rains which have fallen in many western localities have done considerable dame to growing crops. Too much proves to be as bad as too little, so far as the elements are concerned.

THE Post of this city is the only Democratic paper we have seen that is stupid enough to defend the currency feature of the Ohio platform. In other directions the Democratic press not only refuse to defend it, but give up Ohio as lost.

THE Oregon Democracy have taken issue with the Ohio Democrats, on monetary and other questions. They have also nominated a son of Jim Lane, of fragrant memory, for Congress. They seem to have started out for a vigorous campaign.

THE continued and heavy rains have made the farmers feel very anxious as to their crops. The superabundance of water serves to produce a rank growth of vegetation, but operates against the formation of grain. Our entire valley is now supplied with rain until we have more than we need,—the atmosphere, when the sun is shining, being humid and unhealthy.

WE ARE gratified to notice that D. D. Cone, Esq., of Washington, D. C., has been appointed by the President as his private Secretary, to sign land warrants. Mr. Cone has been connected with the press, and is one of those honest, courteous, intelligent gentlemen, who are worthy and capable of recognition and honor. A better selection could not have been made.

SAYS the Baltimore Gazette, Democratic: "Our Ohio correspondent, after a careful survey of the situation from an impartial standpoint, reaches the conclusion that the Democratic prospects for success in that State are anything but promising. It is pretty evident that a strong and irresistible counter current against the position of the party on the currency issue has set in, which will culminate in disaster in October." This is plain and positive.

THE New York World is putting the Harrisburg Patriot through a series of cross questions, that are evidently of a very puzzling character. It more than intimates that the Patriot has had transactions with the State Treasury which cannot be explained very intelligently on an honest basis. What is amusing about the affair is the calm and lofty indifference with which the Post looks on the fight. The World just intimates, however that when it gets through with the Patriot, it will stir up our Democratic rooster with a particularly long pole.

IT looks as if Dr. Bacon were disposed to drive Bowen into a formal statement of whatever charges he has, against Beecher. Allusion is made to the charges he withdrew, and the intimation given that the world will believe Beecher innocent, if he do not prove him guilty. We fancy Bowen is entirely too sharp to be caught. Unlike Tilton, he does not allow himself to be driven into a corner by taunts and inuendoes. It is more likely he can be reached through his pocket. Should the Independent run down, as it seems to be doing, he may see in this a reason for striking. But a purely selfish man never strikes so as to hurt very badly.

THE colored people are not so easily led about, as regards their political fealty, as some imagine they should be. Fred. Douglass delivered a speech at Hillsdale which was interpreted as directing the colored people to leave the Republican ranks. This was met by such a strong opposing influence that even Mr. Douglass feels called upon to explain. His explanation is that he did not mean to say that the time had now come for the colored people to go over to the Democrats,—but to generally state that the time would come when their vote would be divided between the two political parties. In other words it was a generality,—a mere prophecy, and not advice. Mr. Douglass is deeply dissatisfied with the course pursued in giving a sectarian turn to the Howard University, and thinks that as it rests upon the money due dead black soldiers, it should be mainly controlled by colored men, for the good of colored students. In this he is right; but all this is not political and should not be accepted as a reason for deserting the Republican party.

PROFESSOR BONAMY PRICE, who did not make himself a very brilliant reputation while in this country, nevertheless writes quite sensibly as to the cause of failures in England. He gives the destruction of capital, as the main cause. The great iron interests of England have been especially unfortunate. The iron made has cost more than it could be sold for. "There has been a large consumption of food, clothing, materials, and tools by the workers in iron; the iron produce has not fetched back an equivalent in corn from America, wool and cotton from divers countries, meat and butter from England, and so on." There has therefore been a destruction of capital. The nation is less fitted to carry on business. This affords but another evidence of what we stated in Saturday's issue, that the competition between interests is becoming very close. This being the case, England will not be able to pursue her old policy of breaking down competing industries. And this equilibrium of strength has been secured in this country and on the continent by the policy of protection.

THE Post is up in arms at our remark about the Ohio Democracy, and asks us a list of questions. Fearing our answers might prove inconvenient, it is at the pains to point out exactly on what basis the answer shall be made. Thank you. We join with the sensible press of the country in accepting the comments and statements of Governor Allen and Sam Carey as the true exponents of just what the Ohio platform means. And both these gentlemen have declared that the true policy of the Government is to issue greenbacks in sufficient quantity to redeem our interest bearing bonds. The New York Post, proverbially cautious in its statements, says, as to the drift and purpose of the Ohio Democrats, "There is no doubt that the men who framed the Columbus resolutions desire to incorporate their substance with the national Democratic platform next year. If they secure for them, through the election of Governor Allen next October, the approval of a majority of the voters of the State of Ohio, they will demand their acceptance by the Democratic National Convention more imperatively than they can do if they shall be rejected by the people of Ohio in the autumn election. They will say to the Convention: 'Promise us more paper money and repudiation of the public obligation to the bondholders, and we will pledge to you the electoral vote of our great State. We can guarantee it on no other terms, because our people are in favor of inflation and repudiation.'" So others see as we do. As to the Post's series of questions, we could easily and conveniently answer them, but we remember that we have asked the Post two questions which it has steadily ignored. We will restate them, and when it answers, we will meet its questions: 1. Does the Post approve the course of President Pierce in sending troops to break up and drive out the members of the Topeka Legislature? 2. Does it favor the Democracy of Pennsylvania sustaining the claims of the Back-pay, Salary Grabber, Sam Randall, for the Speakership of the next House of Congress? As our cotemporary seems to be in the way of noticing the GAZETTE, perhaps it may see these questions.

SENATOR THURMAN, of Ohio, having conveniently waited till popular opinion fully disclosed itself, delivered his long-expected speech at Mansfield, Ohio, on Saturday last. The address is deprecatory and apologetic in tone, and is evidently tinged with the melancholy of expected defeat. The amusing parts of the address are those which refer to the monetary question. He declares himself a hard money man, but claims that the platform will admit of just such construction as individuals choose to put upon it. It is tweedledum or tweedledee,—just as you please. The following, from the address suitably illustrates this: "And then, as to inflation, the platform does not expressly demand more currency. It denounces contraction, but does not say in plain words, give us inflation. What it does say is, 'that the volume of currency be made and kept equal to the wants of trade;' and this is all. Now, I suppose that there is not, and never has been, a man in any civilized country who would not say that the volume of currency should be equal to the wants of trade. To say so is to utter a truism, a mere abstraction. The practical question is, Have we that volume now? and upon this question the platform is silent. To him who believes that the present volume is sufficient, it means no inflation, for in his mind it is already quite 'equal to the wants of trade.' To another man man, who thinks that more currency is needed, it does mean expansion; and so, whether it means the one thing or the other depends upon the preconceived opinions of every one who reads it." So the platform, according to Senator Thurman, is a mere deception—a sham. All the Ohio Democrats do not think this, as Mr. Thurman admits that: "I know that some of its warmest advocates regard it as a declaration against gold and silver, and for an irredeemable greenback currency now and forever, coupled with great and permanent inflation." He even generalizes and emphasizes this: "Another class of editors denounce us because we do not surrender our convictions and support paper money and inflation as well as the ticket." So the mountain labored and brought forth a rat.

DEATH OF ANDREW JOHNSON.

Senator and ex-President Andrew Johnson died on Saturday last, from a paralytic stroke which came upon him the Wednesday previous. He was expected in the city of Washington during the present week, and evidently passed away at a time when he was unusually active in preparing for next Winter's labors. He was not an old man,—having been born in 1808, and being, therefore, but 67 years of age. The active and public character of his life, and his long continuance in public office, caused many to think him older than he was. It seems strange that he should, at his age, have had his career arrested by a paralytic stroke,—yet we notice that paralysis is becoming very frequent and fatal in its effects. We are a nervous people, and live excited, active lives, involving generally some form of overwork. There can be no doubt that this is one of the reasons why paralysis has become so alarmingly frequent. Andrew Johnson was possessed of a large measure of excitability. He was not a man of large mind, or liberal culture, but he possessed a nervous force that attracted attention toward him, and gave him a large measure of success. His life was necessarily well supplied with excitements,—as he entered political life as soon as he reached his majority, and has held office or been struggling for office from that time till his death. Thus he was made Alderman at twenty-one, rose to be Mayor of Greenville, went from there to the Legislature, was made Presidential elector one year, then sent to the State Senate, then to Congress for ten successive years, was elected Governor for two terms at the close of his Congressional career, and at the expiration of his gubernatorial term, in 1857, was elected United States Senator for six years. Lincoln made him military Governor of Tennessee at the close of his Senatorial term. He was then put on the Presidential ticket as candidate for Vice President, elected, soon after succeeded to the Presidency, on the assassination of President Lincoln, and after five years' retirement came up as United States Senator once more. Thus he passed a life of excitement, which wore on his nervous power, and prepared him for the disease which finally came upon him.

It is difficult to make an estimate of Andrew Johnson which will be in accord with popular ideas. His friends thought him an exceptionally great man, and his opponents underrated his real power. He was possessed of shrewdness, sagacity, was positive even to stubbornness, and at times pugnacious to a degree that seriously marred his influence. Yet in the one element of keeping himself in office, he was amazingly successful. We believe his ability was greatly overrated. His educational advantages were nothing, and he really did little more than ring the changes on a few ideas, while in public life. In his State Legislature he first lost, and then gained influence by opposing a system of internal improvements which had been proposed, and afterward proved failures. In Congress his reputation rested, chiefly, on his activity and prominence in advocating the bill to refund the fine which had been levied on Andrew Jackson at New Orleans, in favoring the annexation of Texas, the tariff of 1846, the war measures of Polk and a homestead bill. In the United States Senate his devotion to the Union was his great triumph, and led to his being elected Vice-President, and thus succeeding to the Presidency. He delivered no great speeches, nor originated or controlled any great measures, with which his name will be permanently identified. His adherence to the Union cause was noble, and was grandly rewarded.

Mr. Johnson's Presidential career is comparatively fresh in the minds of the people. He entered office with the declaration that his future career would be essentially like his past public life, so far as views and principles were involved. It was generally understood that he purposed to follow Lincoln's policy as to reconstruction, and it probably was his purpose at the beginning. But he was possessed of an individuality that would not accept the plans of others; and hence, little by little he began to change. He was less friendly to the colored people, and more attentive to the ex-rebels. Eventually his feeling that Congress did not sustain him as heartily as it should found expression in a speech,—violent, undignified and insulting. Of course this led to an outbreak of feeling over the entire country. A rupture was recognized as having taken place between him and the Republican party. He evidently, afterward, cultivated the Democracy, but they were shy of him, and the Republicans did not altogether lose their hold upon him. While it was given out that they were not in accord, Seward and others remained in the Cabinet, and adapted themselves to his whims, that they might control him in matters that were deemed important. He was bound with silken cords, yet knew not that he wore them. His outbreak with Stanton and quarrel with Grant, because, as Secretary of War ad interim, he yielded to the action of Congress, illustrate the difficulty that attended the work of managing the President. Still, it was accomplished with tolerable success, and he finished his Presidential career without having wrought other harm than delaying reconstruction, and keeping up the spirit of exasperation between the North and South.

Out of the difficulties above referred to, grew the impeachment trial,—the only event of the kind, as applied to the President, in our national annals. There was an inside history to this that will probably never reach the public. That it grew out of high feeling, which began with the 12th of February speech is true, but feeling doubtless produced conviction, and the articles of impeachment were preferred in the full belief of their justice and merits. The trial was, in part, a farce. The majority saw that there would be dangers following successful impeachment, that might be as serious as would Mr. Johnson's continuance in office be. On the other hand, his friends were active, and the person who manipulated certain Senators, and the price paid are now tolerably well known. It is declared that Mr. Johnson neither knew nor had part in this, but the New York Custom House was handled very suspiciously just at that time, and after. It is certain that the close of the trial was a relief all round; and to none more than the President himself.

His subsequent career has been less prominent. He has been a candidate for Congress in his home district, and eventually was elected to the United States Senate, taking his seat in March last. He had not the opportunity to do much, but delivered a speech on the Louisiana question. Much interest was drawn to him by the fact of an ex-President being elected Senator; and it was known that he cherished a lively hatred toward President Grant, and thus an attack on him was anticipated. They were not disappointed as to the animus of the speech, but it fell flat because of its lack of ability and force. It was an attempt to contrast his own policy with that of President Grant,—but its statements and logic were weak and forceless. A more vigorous career was anticipated for him at the next session of the Senate, but excitements had worn down his strength, and he was unable to resist the force of disease.

Much discussion has taken place as to whether Johnson could be classed as a statesman. His mind turned chiefly to the consideration of constitutional questions, and even the minor and more detailed items of legislation were considered by him in their relations to our fundamental law. Indeed, the frequency of his references to the Constitution became the subject of jovial remark. Yet it is evident that he was drawn to this by his early readings, and was sincere and honest. But it must be said, if statesmanship consists in clear and lucid interpretations of the Constitution, and the application of the truths evolved to the changing phases of our political life, he cannot be regarded, in this higher sense, as a great statesman. Webster, Clay, Seward, and Sumner were exponents of this higher form of statesmanship. We admit that in a minor sense—that in which, he sought to apply certain fundamental political truths to laws to be enacted, he possessed, in a degree, the quality of statesmanship—but not in the higher sense in which those above referred to are considered. Yet his views and strength of character in rising above the temptations to join in the rebellion, have been regarded as involving some of the elements of statesmanship. When, however, his early life and lack of opportunity are considered, it is surprising that he attained to what he did,—both in mental culture and official position.

He has been considered a demagogue, more than else; but the closing scene of conscious life, and the request he made to be buried by his friends, with the American flag wrapped around him, leads us to think that words and acts which were considered demagoguery were really honest, candid outgivings of a peculiar mind. He was self-made, and therefore self-confident. But we now believe he was generally honest and sincere in his utterances and acts. The only drawback to the above words of commendation, which refer to his past career, is the statement, generally believed, that he intended to take part in the Ohio contest, in favor of inflation and repudiation. If so, it is fortunate for his memory that his end came when it did.

The Death of General Pickett.

General George E. Pickett, as already announced, died Friday night, at Norfolk, Va., after a brief illness. He was born in Virginia in 1825, and entered the Military Academy at West Point from that State in 1842. He went to the Mexican war with the rank of second-lieutenant, and acted with bravery at the battles of Contreras and Churubusco. He also behaved gallantly in storming El Molino del Rey, and won the brevet of captain at Chapultepec. At the outbreak of the civil war he joined the Confederate army as a commander of Virginia volunteers, and soon gained high rank and distinction. He was present in nearly all the battles fought in the early seven years of the war by the Army of Northern Virginia, serving both as brigade and division commander. His most conspicuous services during the war was in the Pennsylvania campaign of 1863. At the battle of Gettysburg he led with his division of Virginians the memorable charge upon the Union forces holding Cemetery Hill. His troops fought desperately, encouraged by his gallant words and bearing, and the havoc in their ranks was appalling. Every brigadier general in the division was either killed or wounded, the colonels of five Virginia regiments were among the slain, and of twenty-four regimental officers, only two escaped unhurt. Among his brigade commanders on this occasion was Gen. J. L. Kemper, the present Governor of Virginia. Subsequently Gen. Pickett served in the defenses of Richmond, and was actively engaged until the close of the war, when he retired to private life. Gen. Lee considered him one of his best officers, and had great confidence in his skill and bravery. At the time of his death Gen. Pickett was general agent of a New York life insurance company at Richmond, where he resided. A few weeks ago he went to Norfolk in search of health, but his constitution was so impaired that his recovery was not expected by his friends.

FASHION FANCIES.

The Latest Styles in Ladies' Raiment.

What to Wear and How to Make it—What is Prescribed for the Home and the Summer Saunter—Stylish Costumes for Stylish People.

Independent Dressing.

There is more independence and simplicity in toilettes this summer than for many previous seasons. Ladies who think more of comfort than display can spend a pleasant holiday at Saratoga or any other watering-place provided with a couple of cambric or nansook suits for day wear, a grenadine and silk dress for dinner and evening. With a handsomely dressed coiffure, a pretty lawn suit, and an umbrella of dark silk or ecru, ladies spend the whole day on the piazza, on the lawn, at croquet, or walking about the shady streets to and from the springs; a veil is sometimes added to protect the coiffure from stiff breezes; a hat is only needed for drives.

Hints About Dress-Making.

The modistes are making coat sleeves almost close-fitting, yet far shorter than formerly, with flaring cuffs or pleated frills around the waists to show the white inner frill or lace. A great many puffed and shirred sleeves are worn, but the plain coat sleeve is preferred for dresses worn in the street. Cuffs are of simple shape, merely corded on the edge, and decorated by a small bow; two pleatings, headed with a scarf of gros grain ribbon or a bias band of the material or of the trimming, trim grenandine sleeves. Basques are as long-waisted as the wearer's figure will permit, and follow the natural outline of the figure as closely as possible. Long side forms in the back are seen on most French dresses. Vest-shaped trimmings and long reverse collars, with square corners low on the breast, are fashionable for the fronts of basques. It seems almost impossible to make the neck of the dress too high and close for style, no matter how great the discomfort. Skirts of French dresses are made longer in front and on the sides than formerly, concealing the foot entirely. Side pleatings for trimming skirts of dresses are not made as full as they were formerly. The fashionable modistes now use twice and a half the length of the space to be covered, instead of three times the length. These pleats must be caught on the wrong side in the middle, pressed flatly above, and allowed to flare below; rows of sewing-machine stitching holding them in place may make them more regular-looking, but add nothing to their beauty.

White Suits.

White suits are in greater favor at the Summer resorts than at any time since their introduction. A lady passing through New York en route to Saratoga purchased six white suits at one furnishing house. The materials are creamy white French nansook, Victoria lawn, and barred muslin. Hamburg embroidery in open English designs for ruffles and insertion, gathered and pleated ruffles of the material, and clusters of tucks, are the trimmings. Pretty suits of fine nansook, trimmed with gathered ruffles, tucked on the edge, and headed by a cluster of tucks, cost $24. These may be worn by any lady, either old or young; may be put on for breakfast and worn until dinner, and are also popular with ladies dressing in mourning, because of their neat style and simple ornamentation. Victoria lawn suits, trimmed like that in the illustration, are sold for $23; with tucks and fluted ruffles, they are $17. Striped lawns made by this design cost from $15 to $18. Very dressy costumes that could easily be made at home, and also laundried there, are shown of organdy muslin, with broad stripes of pale blue or lavender, or else dark violet on white, trimmed with ruffles of the same. Solid mauve, blue, and ecru lawns have ruffled edged with Italian Valenciennes lace. Linen lawns are prettiest striped with blue, black, brown, or scarlet, and are not improved by much trimming; straight ruffles and side pleatings are most congruous for this substantial material.

The "Beautiful Dark Blue."

Dark blue batiste suits are very popular this summer made by the loose basque pattern. They are trimmed with white openwork ruffles, or else with the plain scalloped white muslin ruffles that come in bands a yard and an eighth long, wrought on each side; half a dozen such bands cost $4.50. Ecru guipure lace and insertion are also very popular trimmings for these dark blue suits, and are very handsome when real linen guipure is selected; the cotton guipures in yak and Cluny patterns are coarse and tawdry-looking. Soft-finished cambric suits cost $14. These are most effective when made of irregular plaids and stripes; the stripes should not be the bold marked stripes of solid color lately in vogue, but are prettiest when made up of many hair lines, dots, or clouded grounds. The plainest print dresses are also made by this model, though many prefer the round deep over-skirt instead of the square one with full back. For such dresses the trimmings should be straight scantily gathered ruffles, with self-heading made by gathering them an inch from their upper edge, or else they should be headed by a bias band an inch and a half wide stitched flatly on each edge. Thread and pique buttons are used on dresses of the thinner fabrics; for cambric, batistes, and prints, pearl buttons are preferred.

Summer Hats.

Large Watteau flats of black or white straw or of Leghorn are worn in the country. The finest black chip Watteaus are trimmed with two bows of Valenciennes lace, black velvet, and clusters of small fruits; black lace is used on white chip and Leghorn flats. Another fancy is that of covering the hats with very full ruches of white crepe lisse, except immediately on top of the crown, where a cluster of roses and a humming-bird nestle, and a bow of black velvet is tied there, with long ends floating behind. Young girls wear flat Watteau hats, with the brim lined with brown, scarlet or blue silk, and the crown trimmed with butterfly bows of cream-colored soft silk and a scarf of the color of the lining. India silk ribbons, with no wrong side and too soft to crush, are worn on summer hats; they are plain, shaded or else plaids of one or two colors. Coarse straw hats, glazed like Japanese braids, are trimmed with woolen balls and applique leaves of velvet and cloth.

Styles for Elderly Ladies.

Elderly ladies cling to polonaises in preference to basques with over-skirts. These polonaises are of simple princesse shape, not elaborately draped. Their most dressy Summer toilettes are of black grenadine, trimmed with folds and knife pleatings, or else Summer silks in black and white checks, bars, or stripes, plainly ruffled, with bias bands for heading. These dresses are for church, afternoon, and dinner. For morning and day wear they choose white linen lawns, batistes, and half-opaque cambrics. A long basque, no over-skirt, and a flounced lower skirt is the popular manner of making; there are from one to three flounces on the lower skirt. Their caps for afternoon and evening are large squares of lace for the top of the head, with flowing ends behind or on the sides. These are not large enough to conceal the coil of beautiful gray hair worn low behind, or the long lightly rolled puff worn on each side of the face. The lace used is thread, Valenciennes, or duchesse point. Black lace barbes are used alone, or are mixed with white lace; large caps entirely of black lace are now seldom worn, as they cover up much of the gray hair that is now the fashion to diplay, and have a dreary, sombre appearance. Morning caps are of snowy white lawn with large bag crowns, and pleated fronts trimmed with purple, violet, or blue ribbon, or else black velvet; pale blue ribbons are pretty with gray hair; pink and buff are seldom becoming to faded complexions.

Hem-stitching.

Needle-women in France who prepare fine lingerie are using a great deal of old-fashioned hem-stitching for the cuffs, collars and handkerchiefs that will be worn next Winter. Ladies who have learned these odd and pretty stitches from their grandmothers can now use them for ornamenting their own lingerie.

Barege and Gauze Dresses.

Woolen barege is coming into vogue again. It is fashionably worn in France, and is admired for its soft, clinging texture. Full costumes of barege have been sent over from Paris in stylish ecru and dark blue shades. The ecru barege suit is made up without darker silk for lining, and is worn over white muslin skirts; the basque, however, is lined throughout with thin lining silk. The overskirt is in the round full French shape, edged with knife plaiting, and there are several rows of plaiting on the lower skirt. Being worn over white the transparent ecru barege becomes of a pale cream-color, and to give character to this delicate dress there are bows for the front of the over-skirt, the throat, wrists and tournure, made of dark scarlet ribbon in rich damask patterns. To wear with this dress is a black chip hat in toque shape, with the brim drooping over the crown, and the back turned straight up behind. The only trimming is a scarf veil of ecru barege twined around the crown, with knotted loop behind supporting a scarlet wing, and a long flowing streamer that is wound around the neck and tucked in the belt of the dress. Another pretty country toilette is of indigo blue barege, trimmed with ruffles of white muslin wrought in English open-work embroidery. The dark blue does not look well as a transparent over white, and should be worn over blue silk. Pale Sevres blue barege is also imported by the yard for costume and for veils. This shade is most becoming to pure blondes; the nark French blue is worn by both blondes and brunettes.

Silk Corselets, Fichus, Etc.

Light-colored silk "corselets"—which are cuirass basques outlining the figure, high or half-high and square in the neck, with short sleeves, or else transparent ones of lace, no trimming, and laced behind—are worn by young ladies with their white muslin or tarlatan ball dresses. The peasant fichu of white embroidered muslin, or else of lace insertion and muslin together, is worn with evening silks of plain white color. This is lapped in the breast without the hanging ends of the Marie Antoinette fichu. White lisse kerchiefs, folded like those seen in pictures of Martha Washington, are worn by young ladies with their blue and lavender dresses, and to lighten up black toilettes. New muslin tabliers are square below, with bibs above, and are called Watteau aprons. India muslin dresses worn at the French watering places are embroidered in colors; black and red together are much used for this work.

Embroidered Linens.

The costumes for traveling and for excursions in vogue abroad are plaid or checked batiste, uecr, or gray, embroidered with dark blue, brown or black. The whole costume is studded or dotted with embroidery, and consists of a basque, sleeveless sacque, apron overskirt, and low skirt. The trimming is plaitings of plain batiste headed with bands of embroidery. The white lingerie is also wrought to match the dress. Gray batiste is sometimes embroidered with crimson wool.

Sea-side Wraps.

The newest wraps for country mornings and drives on the sea-shore are mantles and Dolmans of plaid flannel. The prettiest patterns have white grounds with large cross-bars of blue and black, or else blue and scarlet, or green and black; those with shaded brown bars are also very handsome. They are made with a hood, are drawn in to the waist behind, have long looped bows and streamers of black gros grain ribbon, and are edged with white wool fringe in tassels tied with the prevailing color in the plaid. They cost $11 for graceful Dolman-shaped garments; others in shawl shape are plainer, and are meant for older ladies.

Varieties.

Crimped linen frills are the new and fresh-looking lingerie offered for wearing in the neck and wrists of summer dresses. These are bought by the yard, a single yard serving for the high neck and close-wristed coat sleeves of most dresses; when soiled, they are sent to the laundress to be washed and recrimped; hence they are more economical than lisse frills, or those ready-made ones of muslin at which every laundress rebels. The prettiest linen frills are of very sheer kenting or linen lawn, with a broad hem neatly hem stitched. Ladies who are fastidious about their lingerie, and are accomplished needle-women, make their own dainty frills of fine linen cambric, rolling the hem and the gatherings, and "whipping" (overseaming) them on to bands of linen tape. The free edge is then ornamented with fine thread edging, or some real Valenciennes, or perhaps some more showy point duchesse. Ladies who have not leisure even for this useful needlework buy the coarse crimped tarlatan frills that are sold for twenty-five cents a half dozen. These are worn once or twice, and thrown away; their expense is then not so much as is charged for washing linen collars.

White tulle bows and streamers are the Summer novelty in coiffures. These look very becoming, light and pretty. In Europe the tulle is folded around the front of the head in the shape of a turban, which must look very formidable, and be unbecoming to most faces.

Madras plains of brilliant colors are the last caprice for hems of hankerchiefs. Madras foulard—the name used in Europe for Louisine silks—is very fashionable for sea-side costumes. The crown of the hat, which is turban shape, is made of the gay plaid of the dress; the brim is of white or black chip. These plaids are invariably made up bias, as they are then far more effective. The fancy abroad is to have sleeves and lower skirt plaid, while the upper skirt and basque are plain. This reverses the usage here.

Stockings must match country dresses in color. Stripes around the leg are most popular, but lengthwise stripes are being introduced in fine lisle thread and silk hosiery. Low shoes of soft kid, with square toes and low heels, cost $8 made to order. They tie over the instep, or may be buttoned on one side. If rosettes are used, they are long, not round, and are made of velvet loops, with a cut-steel buckle in the centre.

VERDICT

In Favor of Howe's Standard Scales.

We, the undersigned, comprising all the wholesale Butchers of Chicago, are using the IMPROVED HOWE STANDARD SCALES, and after using Fairbanks' and other Scales, do find that the improvements in the HOWE Scale render it the best.

We use a scale severely, and find the HOWE to be the strongest.

We weigh out each day over thirty thousand dollars worth of meat, to the retail markets, in various quantities, and require our large scales to weigh small fractions of a pound.

This merit we have found is alone possessed by the IMPROVED HOWE and is maintained after the most severe and longest tests, being attributable to the patent chilled iron balls between the platform and knife edges, on which all friction is received, thus preserving the fine edge of the pivots on which the correct and delicate action of a scale depends.

We also find the IMPROVED HOWE SCALES the most economical, not needing the frequent repairs that Fairbanks' and other scales do.

Latest Advices Concerning Money and Stock Matters.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, August 2, 1875.

Saturday was a day of usual activity, but it was noticeable that the hopeful, buoyant feeling of a few previous days was not present. Money is plentiful, but complaint is made that the demand for money has caused an advance in the rates of discount in many instances. We suppose this refers to weak borrowers, as we learn that good paper is readily taken, and at moderate rates. Eight and nine per cent. is given as the average rate for good paper, but it is stated that as high as thirteen per cent. was paid last week for certain bank loans. We do not know the circumstances, but presume they were exceptional. Still, we hope the policy will be observed by our banks of cultivating the prosperity of business by as much generosity as to rates as can well be practiced. That paper should be scrutinized is doubtless true, but it is better to entirely refuse unacceptable paper than to discount it at extravagant rates.

The increase of £7,200,000 in the bullion of the Bank of England since the first week of May is partly explained by the following figures showing the imports and exports of the precious metals into the United Kingdom for the first six months of the year:

	Imports.	Exports.
Gold	£12,902,318	£7,838,799
Silver	4,930,474	4,278,377
Total . . .	£17,832,792	£12,117,176

The imports have exceeded the exports by £5,715,616. Of the very large imports of gold, £6,197,813, or nearly one-half, has been contributed by the United States, showing how largely the gain of the bank has been made at our expense.

The London Times of the 13th, alluding to the financial situation in connection with harvest prospects on the Continent, says:

The storms of the past week prevailing on the Continent generally, and especially in France, have had much influence in sobering sanguine speculators for the moment, and any serious change in harvest prospects abroad would upset many calculations there and here. United States stocks recovered the slight depression of Saturday; Hungarian, Brazilian, Russian and other investment stocks have been on the whole firm. It is difficult to say to what precise cause the enormous exportation of stock now going on to France, and which keeps the French exchange exceptionally high when it would otherwise tend to fall, is due; but should speculation be at the root of it, as is probable, the rise in the value of money imminent in Germany may cause the whole state of affairs to change suddenly. A rate forced up by any shifting and unstable cause, such as a flow of stocks from one market to another, cannot be relied upon for a day at the present price of money.

NEW YORK, July 31, 1875.

Gold advanced from 112¾ to 113, declined to 112¾, recovered to 112¾, and closed at 112⅝. The decline was facilitated by rumors from Washington that the Secretary of the Treasury would sell a large amount of gold next month, some estimates placing the amount as high as $8,000,000. The rates paid for borrowing were 2, 1 and 1½ per cent. Loans were also made flat and 2 per cent for carrying. Governments are dull and irregular. Railroad bond were stronger in late afternoon dealings, especially for Chicago Northwestern consolidated gold bonds. Large transactions were made and prices advanced to 87, closing at that figure.

One foreign banker who intended to ship a large amount of gold to-day, withdrew it, and in its place sent United States bonds, which he was able to do with the advance in gold yesterday to 113a113¼.

On the Stock Exchange as well as the Gold Room the markets were slightly affected by rumors in regard to the failure of a firm in the cotton and exchange business, but the rumor turned out to be without any foundation in fact. When the baseless character of the rumor was exposed, an advance took place. Western Union rose to 83¾, and closed at 83⅝. Lake Shore advanced to 62¼@62¾, Pacific Mail to 39⅞@40, and Northwest to 42@42¼, the last sales having been at these prices. St. Paul was firm at 36¼@36⅜. Ohio & Mississippi recovered from 18⅞ to 19⅞. The market closed active and irregular.

The transaction on the Stock Exchange to-day aggregated 118,881 shares, of which 21,600 were Lake Shore, 9,000 Northwestern common, 2,200 Pacific Mail, 25,000 Ohios, and 30,640 Western Union.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, July 31, 1875.

The general markets, with the exception of Wheat, which appears to have stiffened up again, present no new or important features deserving of special notice. Trade continues quiet, although it is not much behind what it usually is at this season of the year, and our merchants generally are hopeful in regard to the future.

BERRIES—Blackberries, 15a18c per qt. Whortle Berries, 14a15.

BUTTER—There is a steady demand for prime table Butter the supply of which is light, and prices are firm but unchanged; 20a23 for prime to choice solid packed. We did hear of some sales at 24 and 25, but these, as yet, are regarded as outside quotations.

CHEESE—In steady demand, with regular jobbing sales reported at 11a11 1-2.

EGGS—The market continues very dull, and prices weak and drooping; we reduce our quotations to 15a17. Some dealers have been shipping their surplus to New York.

Afloat and loading for New York, 26,700 bags; other ports in the United States, 85,000 bags. Total stock and supplies for all ports of the United States, 155,472 bags. The Messrs. GRAIN—The market for Wheat continues firm and unsettled, which may be attributed in a large degree to the weather, which has been very unfavorable the greater part of the week for harvesting; there is no Wheat coming forward, excepting that consigned to the mills, and hence there is little or none selling. Prices are nominal at $1,35a1,40 for red, and $1,40a1,45 for amber and white. The Oat market continues dull, and notwithstanding the receipts have been light for some time past, the supply appears to be equal to the demand, which is unusually light; we continue former quotations; 56a57 for mixed and 58a59 for white. Corn is in very light supply, but there is not much demand for it, and it is said that it can scarcely be laid down here at current rates; Ear Corn, 76a78 on track. Shelled, 78a80 free in elevator. Rye quiet, nominal at $1,12a1,15.

HAY—The receipts of Baled continue light, but the supply is equal to present requirements, and prices remain as last quoted; $20a22 per ton, as to quality.

POTATOES—In good supply, and cannot be fairly quoted above $2.

PROVISIONS—There is a continued fair demand, particularly for Breakfast Bacon, Sugar-Cured Hams and Shoulders, and the market is firm. Mess Pork is not much inquired for in this market. Our latest advices from Chicago at this writing report Lard dull and drooping.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, July 32, 1875.

CRUDE.

The market has been very irregular all week, owing in part to the near approach of the close of the month, rendering it necessary for those who had oil to receive or deliver to make the necessary arrangements therefor; it looks at the present writing as if it was about to settle down for the next few weeks; immediate shipment was quoted at $1,10a1,12½; on Thursday it was up to $1,20a1,22½. Some new strikes have been reported recently, and the production is increasing slowly.

REFINED.

The Refined market closes very dull, and prices, as compared with the middle of the week, are off ⅜ to 1-2c per gallon. Philadelphia and Baltimore delivery quoted at 10¾, at which figure a small cargo was sold yesterday, equal to about 8¾ on cars here, against 9c on Thursday. Refiners are hopeful of an early change for the better, not only of an increased demand, but more remunerative rates.

OIL BARRELS.

The market is reported steady at $1,15a1,20 for countries, and $1,30a1,35 for city make.

PITTSBURGH LIVE STOCK MARKET.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, July 31, 1875.

ARRIVALS.

Following were the arrivals of live stock at the Pittsburgh Central Stock Yards for the week, and, to afford a comparison, we append those of the corresponding time last week also:

	This week.	Last week.
Cattle	331 cars.	367 cars.
Hogs	127 "	159 "
Sheep	88 "	89 "

FREIGHTS.

To New York	29c per cwt.
To Philadelphia	25c "
To Baltimore	25c "

CATTLE.

There has been little or nothing done since the date of our last report, 29th; during the time in question there were but 71 head sold, and of the 113 cars reported as having arrived 110 cars were through consignments. However, we never expect much business in the cattle trade from Thursday up until the following Monday; indeed, the bulk of the business is transacted on Tuesday Wednesday and Thursday forenoon—many of the regular buyers make it a point to leave here on Wednesday night. The sales for the week footed up 3,048 head, against 4,436 last week.

The receipts, as will be seen, were considerably below those of last week; the falling off in local stock was 85 cars, and there was an increase of 49 cars of through consignments. It was fortunate for the selling interest that the supply was light, as the reports from all the eastern markets were unfavorable, and buyers, in consequence, especially those from Philadelpeia, were very bearish, determined if possible to force prices down lower. But, in consequence of the meagre supply, sellers were enabled to hold their ground; in other words, prices were fully maintained. The offerings, as has been the case for several weeks past, were mainly common and medium in point of quality; prime beeves were scarce, and some salesmen reported that they brought a slight advance, as compared with last week. There were only a few cars of Texans on sale, but the supply was equal to the demand, which has been very meagre for some time past; good wintered Texans sell readily enough, but there are very few of this kind offering.

QUOTATIONS.

Choice beeves	7,00a7,25
Good to prime do	6,25a6,75
Fair to medium	5,50a6,00
Inferior to common	3,55a4,50
Texas cattle, as per quality	3,25a4,25

SHEEP AND LAMBS.

The run was two cars in excess of that of last week, and while the market fluctuated more or less, prices to-day were not much different from those of Monday. On Wednesday, under the influence of increased offerings, the market was draggy, and prices 15a20c lower, especially in common stock; however, the yards were pretty well cleared, and since then the arrivals have been light. From Thursday noon up until noon to-day, the arrivals footed up but 8 cars, and some of these were through consignments, and it follows, therefore, that the offerings during the time in question must have been small. However, the feeling to-day was not very hopeful, in view of the continued unfavorable reports from New York, and it is apprehended that, in the exent of increased arrivals, there will be a reaction the coming week; it is certain that there will either have to be an improvement in New York or a let-down here within the next few days; which it will be depends entirely upon the receipts during the time in question. Prime 100 lb. sheep quotable at 5 1-2; 90a95 lbs., 5a5 1-4; 80a85 lbs., 4¼a4¾; Lambs, 50a60 lbs., 5 1-2a6 1-2.

HOGS.

The run was a light one, below an average, and, as compared with this day week, prices are considerably higher; on Monday prices were advanced 40a50c per cwt. as compared with the preceding Saturday; on Wednesday there was a reaction, not that there was any marked increase in the receipts, but, owing to a diminished demand; on Thursday prices ruled lower, as they did on the day following, Friday. Quotations may be given at 8c for Philadelphia hogs; light smooth Yorkers, 8a8,05; heavy ditto, 7,60a7,80. The market closes dull for Philadelphia hogs, while nice light Yorkers have been selling readily during the past couple of days at quoted rates.

THE IRON TRADE.

Philadelphia.

The Iron market begins to show unmistakeable signs of returning prosperity, just as it began to break some six months before the panic. The statement will very likely be denied in the trade—the truth generally is—but the future will bear us out. The signs referred to are the very general belief that the lowest prices possible are now ruling for Pig Iron, and that the grain movement is a legitimate trade which will restore prosperity to all branches, and that this effect is already felt in a measure. Moreover, the stocks of Pig Iron generally reported are not visible at the furnaces in the Lehigh, and if they exist it must be entirely in storage yard, which is not believed to be the case. Foundry Pig is scarce, and the consumers of this grade are making efforts to secure all they can before an advance comes. It is not believed nor expected that we are to have a repitition of the great advance of 1872, nor is it desirable for the trade; but it is quite certain with the proportion of stacks out of blast that are reliably reported, and the improved consuming demand that exists, there will not be Pig Metal enough to supply the wants of the country before the close of navigation. Forge Irons are not so active, because of their greater plenty, always common at this season of the year, and also because most of the city mills, and those coming under the Philadelphia rate for puddling, have shut down on their puddlers to reduce cost, and are buying Muck Bar from localities where lower rates prevail. Moreover, some of the largest pipe orders of the season are now on the market, both for Eastern and Western cities, which will consume a very large amount of Pig Iron. In view of this state of affairs any further movement to depress trade may be considered as a direct effort to create a sharp advance in prices very shortly. Still more noticeable is the improvement in Manufactured Irons, so far as Rails are concerned. The movement originated in the West, and it is reliably stated that all or nearly all the Rail mills west of Pittsburgh have orders on hand from three to four months ahead, and we hear of $54 cash, per ton being asked for an order of 4,000 tons Iron Rails in Cleveland during the week, with considerable cash sales at $50a51. Another large order of 6,000 tons is just placed in an Eastern mill at these prices. While Steel Rails can be put in the market at $70a71, and we hear of offers for future delivery still lower, it is fair to believe that the demand for Rails can by no means be supplied from the steel works of the country alone, and that hence a good Iron Rail trade will be had until, as is probable, most of the mills rolling Iron Rails will add a Steel plant of some kind, and produce Steel Rails. The Bar mills of the city occupy the same position as to their puddlers as the Pittsburgh mills did some months since, with the difference that they can obtain a plentiful supply of Muck Bar at lower prices than they can make it. Under previous contracts the puddlers in the city mills received a full $1 per ton more than was paid in the country, and for no valid reason. This the mill owners have determined no longer to pay, and unless the puddlers accept the situation soon, we may look for a fairly active trade in Muck Bar, especially as Bars are very likely to stiffen under the general improvement. From the situation of the market it will be seen that the large furnace companies, who have been maintaining prices firmly, did not do so without reason, and that those who count on any lower rates will probably be caught short. Prices are nominally without change and we quote as follows:

PIG IRON.—No. 1 Foundry, $27; No. 2 $25; Gray Forge, $23,50 to $24.

BARS.—2.6 to 2.8c per lb.

NEW YORK.

American Pig.—The same old stereotyped expression, "nothing new" has to be repeated again this week, and, as noted before, without prospects of any early improvement in the general position. The demand is still limited to the few lots wanted for urgent orders, and buyers cannot be induced to operate beyond, even when tempting inducements are offered. Some of the weaker companies and second hands are offering liberal terms to purchasers, but the larger Lehigh makers are still inclined to be steady in their views. The production is still on a moderate scale, but unless there are indications of an improvement, it is probable further reductions will be necessary. The stock on hand is ample for the wants of the trade for some time to come. We continue old quotations, but they must be considered as more or less nominal. We quote:—No. 1 Foundry, $26a28; No 2 Foundry, $25 a26; Gray Forge, $23a25; White and Mottled, $21a22.—Iron Age.

BRITISH IRON MARKET.

A cable dispatch to the Iron Age, under date of the 28th, says: Scotch Pig.—The market is quiet, with a fair business doing. Prices are weak. Following are makers' quotations:

Coltness No. 1	69s 0d
Gartsherrie No. 1	68s 6d
Glengarnock No. 1	66s 6d
Eglinton No. 1	61s 0d

Manufactured Iron.—There is little doing, with small demand and weaker prices.

Rails remain unchanged.

Pork Prospects.

C. A. Mair & Co., of Chicago, have issued a circular discussing the situation in pork, from which we make the following extracts:

The stock of pork here is 50,000 barrels, against 30,000 last year same time, and the price this year $20.50 against $23,50 last year. It is pretty generally thought that the country is largely long on this pork, and the manipulators here 50,000 bbls short. The "milking process" begun a little later this year and last, but the prices being so much lower, we think that we will likely have an upturn of a dollar or so before another important decline.

The arguments of the "Bear" are: That the quantity of pork is double that of last year; larger receipts of summer hogs; two-thirds more pork in Cincinnati; the decline of $5 per barrel on pork last October, with but 5,000 barrels on hand here when we neared the new season, and which showed its instrinsic value; the suddenness of reactions after any considerable advances, and the indisposition of capitalists here to deal further than to make carrying cost on pork; while on the other hand, the "Bulls" claim that we have made no summer pork this year against 25,000 to 30,000 barrels last year, making last summer's stock, so far as consumptive material is concerned, equal to last year's stock; the stock in New York being 15,000 less than last year; the additional fact that mess pork is bought to go to districts heretofore using none, and the elasticity with which pork rebounds when lower than a relative price with middles. The great and formidable bulwark behind which they fortify themselves, however, is the enormous shipments of meats to England and the Continent from Jan. 1 to July 20, inclusive—this year the exports were 204,205,164 lbs against 152,331,279 lbs, and shipments of pork out of this market in same time were 185,761 bbls against 127,128 bbls last year, and of lard 62,593,102 lbs against 38,886,370 lb; this, unlike last year, is largely in excess, while for the six months from Nov. 1, '73, to May 1, '74, the exports footed up 100,000,000 lbs less than the season previously, hogs being about $6 00 to $6.50, and this year steadily hold their own at $7.50@8.00.

Dry Goods.

NEW YORK, July 31.—There were large shipments of domestic goods sold during the week, but new transactions were limited in amount. There is a better and more confident feeling in the trade. Cotton flannels are active, and there is a growing demand for dark madder, fancy and chocolate prints. Men's wear woolens are less active. Wool flannels are improving, and hosiery goods are doing fairly.

RIVER NEWS.

State of the Rivers, Movements of Steamboats, &c.

THE river rose rapidly Saturday night and yesterday, but was about stationary last evening, with fourteen feet by the marks. There was considerable rain yesterday, as there has been almost every day since early last week.

THE Exchange is en route from Cincinnati.

THE Fannie Tatum was loading at St. Louis for Pittsburgh at last accounts.

THE Monongahela was reported stationary at Brownsville yesterday, with 21 feet in the channel.

As the A. J. Baker will be dry when the river falls, it is thought best to let her rest for the present.

THE K. N. Line has commenced suit against the city of Davenport to recover $931 of wharfage paid.

THE Fearless and barges will take their departure for St. Louis to-day, and shippers should bear this in mind.

THE new steamer Rosa Miller, Capt. John Woodburn, is announced for Arkansas river and all intermediate points.

THE Wild Duck departed early yesterday morning, with two barges of miscellaneous freight, consisting mostly of iron nails and glass ware.

THE Fannie Tatum left St. Louis for Pittsburgh with 800 tons pig metal, 1,200 tons miscellaneous freight. She has one barge in tow.

THE towboat Arrow was sold on Saturday to Messrs. Albers, Mulford & Co., of Muscatine, Iowa, who want her for towing lumber on the upper Mississippi.

PARTICULARS in regard to the breaking loose of a fleet of coal barges yesterday, the property of the Hay's Coal Company, the damage done thereby, will be found in our local columns.

THE Jim Brown and My Choice of the coal fleet have arrived, and a number of others are due. The My Choice had steam up, and may have taken her departure again last evening.

THE fine new steamer John L. Rhoads, which, by the way, acquired quite a reputation for speed and promptness, is, as will be seen by card, announced for St. Louis, leaving on Wednesday next. She made her last round trip in a little over 20 days.

THE Etna arrived from Ironton, with the barge Luzerne, belonging to the steamer John L. Rhoads, loaded with pig iron, has arrived; she towed the barge up for the privilege of loading it with metal, and as there was plenty of water the Rhoads had no use for it.

A SATURDAY evening dispatch from Cairo says:—Capt. Wm. Dean, agent of the Pittsburgh Underwriters, is here, and will raise the Baker when the river falls, if the cabin does not float off. Capt. Sam. S Brown, of Pittsburgh, is here, awaiting the arrival of the coal fleet.

THE Salt Valley, Capt. Sanford, will be found at the wharf this morning, from Ironton, and will depart again at 3 P. M. This snug steamer is regularly in the trade, and will leave promptly as advertised. She gives special attention to way business, and will receipt through to Cincinnati.

ABE BAILEY, an old steamboat mate, but who has been connected with the Allegheny police force for some time past, is reported as having met with a very serious accident on Saturday last. While attempting to get on a train, near the outer depot, which was in motion, he missed his footing and fell under, some of the wheels passing over him, and cutting both his legs off. If his injuries are as bad as reported to us, he cannot possibly survive, as he is pretty well up in years.

A MARIETTA paper, alluding to the recent Baltic-Bigley disaster at that place, says:—The fault of the disaster this time cannot be laid to the bar at the mouth of the Muskingum, but rather to the fact that the boats were running too close together. It seems evident from all the statements, that had the boats been a proper distance apart, they both would have passed the mouth of the Muskingum safely. We understand a statement to this effect, from reliable river men, has been forwarded to Captain Merrill, who has charge of the Ohio River improvements.

A ST. LOUIS dispatch, under date of the 29th says:—The Carondelet Marine Ways will commence setting up the new hull for the Great Republic to-morrow. Capt. Prime Emmerson arrived here from Metropolis, Indiana, to-day, and reports Alf. Cutting getting ready to remove the Belle Lee's cabin over on to the new hull. He expects to have the new boat ready to be towed to St. Louis by the 10th of August. The new hull for the General Anderson's machinery is being planked. From 9 till 12 o'clock to-day the ticket agent of the Keokuk Northern Line sold $1,000 worth of tickets.

THE N. W. U. Packet Company has notified the authorities at Fort Madison that unless they refund the sum of $450, claimed to have been paid as wharfage, under protest, during the years 1870-1-2, suit will be brought against the city at once. In response to the demand, Mayor Roberts writes to Davidson: "Please prosecute us at your earliest convenience. We, in common with other cities on the river, will give you all the law you want. You never paid wharfage here under any legal protest, and we protest that you shall still pay us wharfage. We are keeping a regular account against your boats, which we will collect with interest."

Two W... in Kansas—The Corn ...p Promising.

An Illinois River Full of Floating Wheat.

Hamilton, O., Partly Submerged.

Serious Damage to Crops in Southern Illinois—A Flood in the Sangamon River.

SPRINGFIELD, ILLS., July 31.—The State Register to-day publishes crop reports from twenty-one points in extreme Southern Illinois south of a line drawn across the State at Alton. The reports show very heavy rain storms in that part of the State, doing serious damage to wheat, oats, tobacco and hay, while the corn crop seems to be very promising in this (Sangamon) county. It has rained for the better part of two days almost incessantly, and every day during the past week, but all sorts of crops, save those on high, rolling ground, are about ruined. The Sangamon river and other streams are out of their banks, flooding the country.

A Deluge in Missouri.

ST. LOUIS, July 31.—The rain storms of the past four days still continue in this and almost every other section of the State. Great quantities of rain have also fallen in all adjoining States, and aside from the damage done to railroads, crops of all kinds sustained great injury, and nearly all the streams are so swollen that considerable apprehension is felt here of a freshet in the Missouri or Mississippi river. After rising nearly three feet, the river here is falling to-night, but no doubt will be swelling again to-morrow, and if the rain continues a day or two longer, there must, in the nature of the case, be pretty high water.

The Republican's Kansas City special says there was a terrible storm in that vicinity again yesterday and last night. The track of the St. Louis, Kansas City & Northern Railway between Camden and Orrick is so badly damaged that all trains have been abandoned. The track of the Leavenworth, Lawrence & Galveston road at Chanute, Kansas, where it crosses the Missouri, Kansas & Texas road, is also badly washed, and no trains have reached the city for the last twenty-four hours.

Two Weeks' Rain in Kansas—Railway Damaged—The Corn Crop Prospect Very Good.

ATCHISON, Ks., July 31.—Considerable damage was done to small grain yet standing by the heavy rains of the past two weeks. Corn, however, is growing with wonderful vigor, and this crop will, it is thought, be the largest ever produced in the State. Even on the eastern border, where the locusts destroyed the first planting, corn replanted late in June is now from five to seven feet high, and the prospect is it will yield a full crop. The heavy rain of Tuesday last damaged the Atchison & Nebraska Railroad so that its trains have not passed over the road since that date.

Another Heavy Rain at Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, August 1.—There was another heavy rain fell this afternoon, doing some damage to trees and sidewalks on the hill sides, and flooding cellars to some extent. A land slide is reported on the Little Miami Railroad between Pendleton and Loveland, preventing trains from passing. The Signal Office reports the total fall of rain for July, as observed at this station, at nine and sixty-three hundredths inches. Rain fell on twenty-three days during the month.

Specials to the Commercial to-night give accounts of heavy rains during the past twenty-four hours in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, and further damage to crops.

A Stream of Floating Wheat.

Danville, Ill., reports all bottom lands along the Vermillion river overflowed, and that stream full of floating wheat shocks.

Railways Damaged.

Secorville, Ind., reports the most damaging rain of the season, the streams flooding the country. Several hundred feet of the Indianapolis & Lafayette Railroad are washed out and two bridges over Crooked creek moved out of line. The waters are receding to-night on the Louisville, New Albany & Chicago Railroad. Culverts and track are reported gone in several places north and south of Greencastle. The Indianapolis & St. Louis Railroad is also reported washed out east and west of Greencastle. The Vandalia Road also have lost a bridge over West White creek, Carlesbury, Ind. The Indianapolis, Bloomington & Western Railroad is reported washed out, near Crawfordsville, and it is thought trains will not get through before Tuesday.

Terrific Hail Storm.

The Commercial's Somerset (Ohio) special reports a terrific hail storm this afternoon. Stones the size of a large hickory nut fell, followed by a heavy rain. There was considerable damage done to the Hocking Valley R. R.

A Flood in the Scioto Valley.

The Enquirer's special from Circleville, Ohio, reports the Scioto river very high, and still rising. The bottom lands are all under water, and considerable wheat started off.

The Army Worm at Work.

A special to the same paper from Urbana, Ohio, says the creeks are swollen to rivers, and all flat lands inundated. Rain is still falling, and the streams are rising. Wheat has already been destroyed by rain, and the army worm is cutting grain and oats.

A special from Lima, Ohio, reports serious damage to crops in that vicinity from rain and army worm. Corn is reported as badly beaten down by water.

The Enquirer's Oxford (Ohio) special says the most severe rain of the season fell for two hours to-day. The creeks are reported higher than for many years, and covered with fencing, timber, wheat, oats and barley. The Cincinnati, Hamilton & Indianapolis R. R. line run no trains to-night, owing to a land slide and washes.

A report reaches here to-night from Hamilton, Ohio, that the Miami river is out of its banks and the western part of that city is partially submerged to a depth of three or four feet. No trains went out to-night on the Pan Handle or Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton roads.

A Flood Threatened in the Lower Mississippi.

MEMPHIS, TENN., August 1.—The Signal Service reports this evening show that an overflow is inevitable. The river here rose half an inch, and another heavy rise is reported at St. Louis and a steady advance at Cairo, with general rains in the country above. This leaves little hope that the planters in the Mississippi bottom will escape the dreaded inundation, and that their crops, which were never better, will be lost.

Railroads Running Into St. Louis Damaged.

ST. LOUIS, August 1.—The rain continued most of last night, and a drizzle ...ned noon to-day. The mercury ...ell up to about 60 degrees, and ... has fallen to northwest, but ... wind is from the ...ening. F... very cloudy and threatening ... of the principal railroads running ...east from here are either flooded in places or damaged so that trains cannot run, and most of the roads in this State are similarly situated.

The Mississippi Rising.

The river has risen here three feet since last night, and is now rising at the rate of two inches per hour.

Accounts from the Upper Mississippi, Missouri and Illinois say all are rising rapidly, and all the tributaries within two hundred miles from here are greatly swollen, many of them pouring out floods of water.

Dispatches from various parts of this State say immense damage has been done to crops and other farm property. In the Spring river bottom alone the damage to farmers is estimated a million and a half dollars. The Osage, Somin and Black water rivers are higher than ever before, and in fact all streams in the State are at flood height and causing great destruction to property. The railroads are also suffering greatly from washouts, and loss of bridges and overflows. Trains are badly delayed or stopped entirely. Turnpike roads are also being washed away in places, bridges destroyed and travel impeded. There has probably never been so widely extended damage done in the State before.

The Miami River Higher Than for Thirty Years.

DAYTON, August 1.—The almost continuous hard rains of the past week have been supplemented during the last twenty-four hours with still heavier storms. The river bottoms consequently are flooded and crops suffering seriously. The Miami river and tributaries are at flood height, higher than at any season for twenty-five or thirty years. At this point no serious damage has been done, but the bridge abutments are suffering. Tobacco is almost ruined by the storms. Oats, corn and the meadows are suffering great damage by the army worm, and wheat is rotting in the shock. The weather is still gloomy to-night, and more rain is threatened. Public feeling about business is depressed in consequence of the damaged crops.

Marine Disaster.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 31.—The schooner Skylark reports the loss of the bark Clara R. Sutie, which left here recently for Coo's bay. A heavy sea started the stern posts and she sunk at half-past ten P. M. The crew were in a boat four days and nights, without food or water, and were picked up by the Skylark and brought here.

Cutting Affray.

Officers Gallagher and Robinson arrested James O'Brian last night, about nine o'clock, for cutting Connors Hauch. The affray took place in front of Power's saloon, at the corner of High and Wylie streets, and was the result of a quarrel. Hauch's wound commences on the inside of the wrist, near the hand, and extends around several inches to the back. It is painful, but not serious. He lives at No. 7 Fountain street.

Foot Cut Off.

A man named Bailey, an employe of the Westinghouse Air Brake Company, while attempting to jump on a train of cars about seven o'clock on Saturday evening, at the Washington avenue crossing of the Fort Wayne Railroad, in Allegheny, below the outer depot, slipped and fell and ... his right foot was crushed by one of the cars passing over it. Bailey was removed to his residence at No. 231 Washington avenue, and Dr. Buchanan, the surgeon of the road, amputated his foot. He is getting along well and will go through all right.

The Applicants for the Cadetship.

Saturday morning, the applicants for the vacant cadetship at West Point assembled at the rooms of the Central Board of Education. There were thirteen applicants, as follows: Samuel McElroy, Twentieth ward; George Johnston, Tenth ward; Frank Kimball, Sixth ward; Daniel Wenke, Twenty-eighth ward; David Rees, First ward; Harry Reese, Sixteenth ward; Walter Robinson, Twenty-first ward; G. H. Stengel, Twenty-fifth ward; Ed. Evans, Twenty-ninth ward; D. L. Fleming, Jr., Seventh ward; H. A. Leonhaeuser, Eighteenth ward; H. S. Hill, Fourteenth ward; W. M. McElroy, Twentieth ward.

The committee appointed to conduct the examination first decided that a physical examination should precede that on the scholarly attainments of the boys, and Dr. E. A. Wood offered to conduct the same. The first six boys named in the above list were therefore requested to call at the Doctor's office, No. 1729 Carson street, South Side, to-day, at two o'clock, and the balance on to-morrow, at the same hour.

Sub-committees were also appointed to prepare questions for examination, and the meeting adjourned to meet again on Friday morning, at ten o'clock.

SOUP.

Plenty of It—A Free Distributing Agency.

There were lively times around the Friendship engine house, Allegheny, on Saturday. The feminine element of the surrounding neighborhood, to a large extent, gathered at the firemens' headquarters, and it was observable that every visitor carried a pail, large or small, in proportion to the weight of the carrier. The attraction was a free dish of turtle soup to all comers. The material from which the soup was manufactured consisted of a number of as fat and juicy turtles as the most satiated epicure would wish to see. They were the spoils of war brought from Camp by the returning braves of the Dodge club, who, for the past fortnight, have been making the welkin ring in Lawrence county. The boys apparently made good use of their time in turtle trapping, for they returned loaded down with about six hundred pounds of the lively freight. A large boiler had been put up in the yard of the Friendship engine house, and here the soup was made. The fragrance from the boiler, while the cooking was going on, permeated the surrounding atmosphere, and it needed only half an intimation that the soup was to be dished out free, to collect the crowds. The "dishing out" commenced about six o'clock in the evening and continued for nearly two hours, during which time over forty gallons of the delicious liquid was disposed of. The free distribution was an eminent success,—so much so, that the Dodgers propose to set it up again this evening, and to never weary in well doing until the last turtle of the goodly supply they have yet on hand, is distributed around in soup.

CASTLE SHANNON.

The Approaching Camp Meeting—The Preparations—A Large Attendance Anticipated—Accommodations for All.

The camp meeting under the auspices of the Methodist (non-Episcopal) Churches in and around the two cities, will commence at Castle Shannon, on Wednesday of this week. The grove in which the meeting is to be held is situated within a few minutes walk from the Castle Shannon station, and a board walk has been laid from the station to the camp-ground. We have heretofore given a full description of this lovely retreat—a retreat that has few equals in this section of the State—and need only now refer to the arrangements made to accommodate visitors. During the past year a number of new cottages have been erected, the boarding house enlarged, and a lunch stand erected, so that there are ample accommodations for the gastronomic satisfaction of every attendant.

There are now nineteen cottages in the "circle." They are all built with uniform fronts. They are owned and designated as follows:

Florence Kramer, Violett cottage; Mrs. Capt. J. B. Moore, not named; Wm. Troth, Ivy cottage; Mrs. George Moore, Oak cottage; T. F. Scott, Fern cottage; Michael Marshall, Mound cottage; J. N. McCleary, Maple cottage; after these come the cottages owned by A. C. Hays, M. D. Hays, M. Briggs, Miss Jane Redman, and Mr. Hershberger, which are not occupied or named. Next in order comes Stockton cottage, owned by Robt. H. Marshall, but occupied by Rev. Jesse Hull; then comes D. Davis, Evergreen cottage; Rev. L. C. Simpson, unfinished; H. B. Lewis, Rose cottage; Rev. W. H. Phipps, Cluster cottage. Each of the cottages has a veranda in front, which will be used for the convenience of strangers. All of the cottages are tastefully furnished, pictures hung on the walls of the veranda, etc.; hanging baskets abound in great abundance, birds are plentiful and furnish music from morning to night, and several parties have started flower gardens. Six tents have also been erected for the use of the preachers.

The accommodations for visitors are ample. Seats will be erected all around the larger trees in the grove. A large canopy, capable of containing two thousand people, is on the grounds; besides these, the cottages will be thrown open, in case of a large influx of visitors. Several large sleeping tents will be put up. The trains will leave Mt. Washington and Castle Shannon every hour, the last train leaving Castle Shannon at 10:15 after the evening services are over. A hack capable of seating twenty persons will make a trip between the grove and the station on the arrival and departure of every train.

The following is a list of the officiating ministers: Rev. Wensell, of Baltimore; John Cowl, West Virginia; Rev. Westfall, New Brighton; Rev. Bradley, East Liverpool, Ohio; Rev. Collyer, Sharpsburg; Rev. Simpson, Allegheny; Revs. Murray, Pershing and Clark, Pittsburgh; Rev. Wallace, South Side, and a host of others. The prospects are that the attendance this year will be very large, and that a meeting of a most enjoyable and profitable character will be the result.

COURT NOTES.

In the Court of Quarter Sessions on Saturday Judge Stowe sentenced Robert H. Lindsay, convicted of perjury in the McAfee-Scott breach of promise case, to two years' imprisonment in the Workhouse. It will be recollected that Judge Ewing has several times intended to impose sentence in this case, but that the party could not be found. Finally his bail was forfeited, and proceedings were instituted on the bond, but it seems now that on the day of the forfeiture, there was a misunderstanding, Lindsay claiming that he did not know he was to appear in Court on that day, and asserting that he had not left the city. After consultation with Judge Ewing, before whom the case was tried, Judge Stowe imposed sentence on Saturday.

Patrick Fitzgerald, indicted for keeping a gambling house, was also sentenced. He was arrested in East Liberty some months ago on the charge, and gave bail. While the case was pending before the grand jury he "skipped," and went to Cleveland. He was arrested there by Roger O'Mara last week and brought back. He plead guilty on Saturday and was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and undergo six months' imprisonment in the Workhouse.

Wm. McKnight, in behalf of his wife, instituted a suit for trespass vi et armis, in the Court of Common Pleas No. 1, against Cunningham & Ihmsen. The defendants own a glass house in the Twenty-fifth ward, South Side, and it is alleged that for eight years past they have been in the habit of placing large quantities of barrels on a lot owned by the plantiffs and thereby depriving them of the use of it. Damages in the sum of $8,000 is claimed. A summons was issued.

In the case of a number of property owners on Fifth avenue against Contractor W. B. Barton, the Commissioners for the improvement of Fifth avenue and the city of Pittsburgh, Judge Collier refused to grant the preliminary injunction restraining the contractor from laying down his patent asphalt sidewalk, at the same time remarking that very grave doubts were had as to whether an appropriation had been previously made. No opinion was rendered, but it is understood that in case the contractor, who has already laid a considerable portion of his pavement, undertakes to tear up any sidewalks now down, to make way for his own, no matter whether or not they have been laid prior to the letting of this contract, the Court will enjoin him on application presented. The case, we understand, will either be pressed to a final hearing, or carried to the Supreme Court at once.

A SUIT for slander was instituted by Frederick Barr against Wm. and Susan Cunningham. The plaintiff is married and lives in Temperanceville. He alleges that the defendants put in circulation false reports concerning him, which caused his wife to leave him. A summons was issued.

CRIME IN THE CITY.

Minor Offenses and Petty Criminalities of Yesterday.

TOM AIKEN will have a hearing this morning before Mayor Phillips for disorderly conduct, which it is alleged he was guilty of on the 29th of June last. The suit is instituted by Mrs. Eliza Wilson, of the Sixth ward, who avers that on the day named, when she had her carpets hanging on the fence in front of her house, he came along and with a broad-ax wantonly chopped them to pieces. He left the city then and did not return until Saturday, when he was arrested by detective Scott.

WM. ROBBINS, Henry Cook and George Washington were committed to jail on Saturday evening by detective Bowden, of Allegheny, for a hearing on Wednesday on charges of having despoiled divers and sundry hen roosts, near Jack's Run, Ross township. The prisoners are all colored men, they keep bachelor's hall some place near the locality of their alleged depredations, and it is averred that in the last few weeks they have robbed the Ross township farmers of over two hundred chickens. Quite a large number of fowls were found on their premises and some of them were yesterday identified by the parties from whom they had been stolen. Robbins and Cook are suggestive names when taken in connection with chicken thieving.

RIVER DISASTER.

Accident Yesterday Afternoon in the Monongahela—Coal Barges Swept Away by the Rapid Current—Four of Them Sunk—The Steamer Elector Badly Damaged.

The rapid swelling of the waters of the Monongahela river caused an accident yesterday afternoon that at first gave promise of creating a fearful destruction of river property, but the fortunate fastening ... boat under the Smithfield str... averted what seemed to be ... of a ...et bridge the steamers moored ... sure disaster to the bridge. Ab... at the wharf below field of eig... ...out half past two o'clock a... to Haw... ...t loaded coal barges, belonging ...s Brothers, which were tied to the ...ore just at the gas works, broke loose and started down the river. It is easy to imagine how almost resistless would be the force of such a body propelled by a strong, swift current, and that greater damage was not done is due more to good fortune than anything else. Gathering momentum as they went, the barges swept before them every obstacle in their way. The first obstruction proved to be an ugly, heavy craft called a sand boat. The moment it was struck it yielded to the pressure and was carried down before the barges until it collided with the steamboat Elector, of the Monongahela Packet Line, which was directly alongside the Brownsville wharf boat. The Elector offered considerable resistance, but it finally gave way, and was shoved down under the Smithfield street bridge, which tore the pilot house and the tops of the wheel houses completely off, and crushed, bent and twisted the iron smoke stacks as if they had been nothing but reeds. The steamer lodged between the first and second piers, where the current is not so strong as further out, and when the smoke stacks had been laid flat upon the roof of the cabin they caught the bottom of the bridge and held the boat there, but they could not have done so had the coal barges been exerting their force in the rear. When the sand boat struck the Elector the resistance caused the barges to veer out into the river where the swift current drew them farther from shore. Four of them struck the third pier of the bridge and the moment the ends were caved in they filled with water and sank. The remaining four passed safely under the structure and when they had got into clear water, four tug boats steamed out into the stream and getting in front of the barges dropped down before them and after some time succeeded in roping them in and saving them from demolition. One, however, had succeeded in getting as far down as Brunot's Island, in the Ohio river, before it was caught. While the little tugs were tugging at the big barges, a large tow-boat, the Wm. Barnhill, came up the river and getting below the Elector brought all its power into use and shoved it from under the bridge and back again to its place beside the Brownsville wharf boat. The steamer is pretty badly injured, the pilot house having been cut off as clean as though done with an enormous knife. The hull was last evening thought to have been damaged from the fact that while the boat was under the bridge the lower deck was but an inch or two out of water. The heaviest loss falls upon the Messrs. Hays, who are deprived of a good many thousand bushels of coal. The bridge was not hurt much, but had the Elector been allowed to remain under it any length of time the rapid rising of the water would have forced it up and wedged it in so tightly that removal would have been out of the question, and the damage to the bridge pretty serious. The accident created great excitement in the lower part of the city, and several thousand persons congregated on the river bank to watch the operation of removing the steamboat, which was thought at one time to be on fire, and to quench which the Duquesne engine was brought out. It did not go into service, but as a precautionary measure a line of hose was laid from a fire plug to the bridge and directly over the boat so that if it had ignited it could easily have been extinguished.

Fortunately no one was badly hurt, but there were one or two very narrow escapes. The Elector brought down an excursion party of young ladies and gentlemen from Morgantown, W. Va., on Saturday morning, and they were only waiting for the river to fall to start back home. The boat would have left on Saturday evening but for the fact that the locks are covered with water and it cannot get through them. The greater part of the excursionists were visiting friends in the city, and but four of them, Miss Fannie Lazier, Miss Ella Vance, James Bell and John Hamilton, happened to be on the steamer when the accident was about to happen. A number of gentlemen who were sitting on the bow of the boat observed the barges coming and foreseeing the danger they immediately gave the alarm, and all who could at once left. The two young ladies named barely succeeded in getting off the gang plank and on to the wharf-boat when the "sand digger" struck the steamer and jerked it away from its moorings. Had they been an instant later they would have been thrown into the water. Mr. Hamilton was the only one injured. He was about to leave the boat when he remembered that there was a cripple on board, with whom he had been talking but a few minutes before, and he rushed to the after part of the cabin to assist him ashore. When he got there he found that the cripple was out and safe. By this time, however, the steamer was drifting down the stream and Mr. Hamilton, doubtless thinking it to be his only chance for salvation, jumped from the boat into a barge of loaded coal as the former passed it, but the momentum being greater than he expected, he was thrown all in a heap and had one of his ankles badly sprained.

THE DEATH OF R. S. GATCHELL.

Result of the Coroner's Inquest—Verdict of Accidental Drowning—The Funeral Yesterday Afternoon.

Coroner McCallin held an inquest on Saturday evening on the remains of Robert S. Gatchell, who was drowned on Friday morning in the Allegheny river. The first witness examined was Harry Lysle, who testified that he had met deceased about one o'clock of the morning named in Sproul's Imperial saloon, on Sixth street, where they had drinks together. After drinking whisky, Gatchell took a bottle of mineral water to straighten himself up. He was jovial and danced around and sang several songs, after which they started out. Gatchell said he believed he would go up town awhile, and was about starting toward Liberty street when witness suggested that they go home. Gatchell assented, and together they proceeded to the Suspension bridge. The deceased was about half intoxicated, and kept talking and laughing until they reached a point about thirty yards from the south end of the bridge, when he climbed over the railing and placing his feet in the net work outside hung there, looking into the water and laughing. Witness grasped hold of him and told him to come back. He only laughed more, and swung around to get loose, at the same time keeping hold of the wire cable, said: "let's commit suicide." Witness replied: "not any of that" for him, and again tried to get him to come back. He had grasped him by the collar, and was holding on to him with all his strength, until at last, finding that entreaty would avail nothing, he thought he would scare him into compliance, and told him that if he wouldn't come back he would have to let go his hold. The words were scarcely uttered until Gatchell gave a lurch, and, breaking loose, fell into the river. Witness was so startled that he was unable to realize his position until he heard strokes in the water and saw him swim toward the shore. There were barges moored about thirty yards off, and in his wild excitement and the hope that he might yet be saved, witness called to him to keep up—that he had only to go a couple of feet further to reach the barges. The barges were about eight or ten yards off, but witness told him otherwise, thinking it would encourage him. The next instant he gave a wild despairing shriek, ending in a loud, deep, gurgling sound and sank from sight. Witness rushed from the bridge down to the water's edge, and springing upon the barges made his way along to the place he had seen him disappear. He laid down on the boat and peered into the water expecting the body to rise. While in this position a policeman came along and joined him. They remained there a short time, when finding no signs of the body, the officer told him he must go along to the Central Station and make a statement. He did so, with the result above stated, being locked up to await developments.

The testimony of Alfred Kniess, barkeeper at the Imperial saloon, was corroborative of the evidence of Mr. Lysle as to Gatchell's actions in the saloon before starting out. He also stated that he did not think deceased committed suicide. Mr. Duncan, of Hutchinson's battery, testified to finding the body. These were all the witnesses examined, and when they had told their story the jury retired and in ten minutes returned with the following verdict: "R. S. Gatchell came to his death on the morning of July 30, 1875, by accidentally falling from the Sixth street suspension bridge into the Allegheny river, he being at the time under the influence of liquor, and having carelessly exposed his life by climbing over the railing of said bridge."

The funeral of deceased took place yesterday afternoon from his late residence on Rebecca street, Allegheny, and was very largely attended, particularly by representatives of the printers fraternity, to which Mr. Gatchell belonged. The remains were deposited in Uniondale Cemetery.

At a meeting of the printers of Pittsburgh, held yesterday, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, Death has stricken from our midst our friend and fellow-craftsman, Robert S. Gatchell, a generous, noble-hearted friend, an excellent workman and a true gentleman in all respects; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the printers of Pittsburgh, deeply deplore the unexpected death of our associate and friend, so suddenly drawn from his sphere of usefulness, and we hereby tender his grief-stricken family our most heartfelt sympathies and sincere condolence in this their hour of sad bereavement.

Resolved, That as a further mark of respect to our deceased friend we, the printers of Pittsburgh, will attend his funeral in a body.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions, duly engrossed, be transmitted to the family of deceased.

Resolved, That the above resolutions be published in the newspapers of this city.

FOUND DROWNED.

A Floater in the Ohio River.

On Saturday morning the dead body of a man was found floating in the Ohio river nearly opposite Elanova Springs. It was hauled ashore in Moon township and the Coroner summoned. That official being engaged Alderman McMasters was deputized to hold the inquest. Deceased, whose name could not be ascertained, was evidently a laboring man, about sixty years of age, and apparently had been in the water but a few days. He was about five feet six inches in height, had on a pair of common jean pantaloons of the old style, brown cotton shirt and wore brogans. On his person were found a shell snuff box, a black handled pen knife and an empty leather pocket book. The verdict was "found drowned." The remains were interred near Middleton.

BEAVER FALLS.

A Bit of a Blaze.

Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.

BEAVER FALLS, PA., July 31, 1875.

Our quiet city was disturbed about one o'clock this morning by an alarm of fire. A bright light near the mound soon showed that the stable of Mr. H. T. Reeves was all ablaze. It was consumed in fifteen or twenty minutes. A small quantity of new mown hay had been stored in the mow. Mr. Reeves thinks it likely that it took fire from heat occasioned by the dampness in it when put up. The fire companies were not in time to save the building. W.

Popular Philadelphia Hotel.

The St. Cloud Hotel in Philadelphia, very centrally located on Arch street, above Seventh has just been increasing its celebrity by the addition of thirty splendid new rooms, and a Ladies' Parlor on the first floor. The St. Cloud is still under the proprietorship of G. W. Mullin, Esq., the able and popular manager of the Mountain House at Cresson Springs, and as many of our readers know is a most delightful house for all who visit Philadelphia. Among other advantages, the St. Cloud has a splendid elevator, and is remarkable for being probably the only first-class hotel in America that charges second class rates, for while its rooms and tables are proverbially unsurpassed its tariff is but three dollars per day. The room clerk, Mr. Harry Dennison, and the Cashier, Mr. J. T. Skiles, are both admirably adapted for their positions.

Treatment of a Balky Horse.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals puts forth the following rules for the treatment of balky horses:

1. Pat the horse upon the neck; examine the harness carefully, first on one side then on the other, speaking encouragingly while doing so; then jump into the wagon and give the word go; generally he will obey.

2. A teamster in Maine says he can start the worst balky horse by taking him out of the shafts and making him go round in a circle till he is giddy. If the first dance of this sort does not cure him, a second will.

3. To cure a balky horse, simply place your hand over the horse's nose, and shut off his wind until he wants to go.

4. The brain of a horse seems to entertain but one idea at a time; therefore, whipping only confirms his stubborn resolve. If you can, by any means, give him a new subject to think of, you will generally have no trouble in starting him. A simple remedy is to take a couple of turns of stout twine around the fore leg, just below the knee, tight enough for the horse to feel, and in a bow-knot. At the first check he will probably go dancing off, and, after going a short distance, you can get out and remove the string to prevent injury to the tendom, in your further drive.

5. Take the tail of the horse between the hind legs, and tie it by a cord to the saddle girth.

6. Tie a string around the horse's ear close to the head.

SOMEBODY says a Chicago poet wrote these "Lines upon hearing that Nilsson was about to erect cow sheds on her Peoria lots:"

Christine, Christine, thy milking do
The morn and eve between,
And not by the dim religious light
Of the fitful kerosene.
For the cow may plunge and the lamp explode,
And the fire fiend ride the gale,
And shriek the knell of the burning town
In the glow of the molten pale.

ISAAC JOHNSON, of Rochester, celebrated his seventy-fifth birthday by walking twice around the Driving Park, making the first mile in twelve minutes and the second in thirteen.

The Key-Note of Health.

The health and vigor of the several organs of the body depend upon the simple condition that the functions which pertain to each shall be regularly and actively performed. If vitality is sluggish or deficient, this condition is not properly fulfilled, and as a consequence disease is soon inaugurated. Prevent it by a timely use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which rouse the vital energies when dormant and endow the feeble frame with needful stamina. At the same time that the Bitters infuse new strength into the system, they correct those functional irregularities and local weaknesses which sap the vital power. Dyspepsia bladder and kidney complaints, gout, rheumatism, fever and ague, billousness, constipation, and nervous diseases are invariably overcome by the operation of this standard alterative tonic.

The Rev. G. W. Cranage, a prominent Methodist clergyman, thus relates his experience:

PITTSBURGH, PA., September 8, 1873.

I had been suffering from Dysentery nearly all summer, and it seemed impossible to get any permanent relief, although I had been under the care of several eminent physicians. At the urgent solicitation of a friend, I was finally induced to try DR. HARRIS' SUMMER CORDIAL, but confess that I had but little faith in such a simple remedy, as I supposed it was intended more especially for children. To my surprise, the first dose gave immediate relief, and less than a bottle of the Cordial affected a permanent cure. It is impossible to express my full appreciation of so valuable a medicine.
